Chou Will Quit Parley

Red Chinese Official to Go to India —Secret Session Held at Geneva

Geneva, June 22 (AP)—Red China's Chou En-lai—last of the big-name figures still at the Far Eastern conference—prepared today to quit Geneva and leave the parley mainly to the French and the warring Indochinese factions.

New Delhi announced Chou will stop in the Indian capital Thursday for a three-day state visit with Prime Minister Nehru.

The Indochina peace problem was expected to loom large in their talks.

An Indian Constellation left Bombay today to pick up Chou and his party.

Talks to Be Arranged

By the time Chou departs tomorrow, direct talks between the warring parties in Indochina probably will be arranged, and the major military problems of halting the conflict will be in their hands.

Another secret session of the full nine-party conference was scheduled for this afternoon. France's delegations hoped by then to have arrangements completed for the additional direct military talks, including one of French, Vietminh and Laotian representatives, and the other of Vietminh and Cambodians.

Problems of a cease-fire in Viet Nam already are being negotiated by French and Vietminh military leaders here.

Plays Important Role

The Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister played an important role in weekend developments which steered the Indochina talks toward direct negotiations. He was the principal architect of a formula, approved by the nine-party conference Saturday night, which called for such talks on the disputed Indochinese kingdoms of Laos and Cambodia.

After the other top diplomats left Sunday, Chou stayed on for private talks with representatives of Laos and Cambodia. Finally, he brought them together last night with Pham Van Dong, vice premier of the Communist-led Vietminh.

Took New Tack

Some diplomats expressed belief Chou had taken a new tack in hopes of neutralizing Laos and Cambodia and preventing U. S. bases from being set up there.

To achieve this, these quarters believed Red China might force Vietminh Chief Ho Chi Minh to pull his troops out of the two kingdoms and recognize the present French-sponsored governments.

This would put the Communists in a stronger position to obtain a settlement based on partition of the more important Indochina state of Viet Nam.

Grading to Begin As Prelude to Span Abutment Project

Work Progressing on Two Approaches, Bridge Authority Says; to Seek Bids

The Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp., of New York, contractor for the sub-structure of the Kingston-Rhinebeck bridge, is expected to start grading work by the first of next week, A. K. Burnham, the corporation's project manager said today.

Machines and materials are expected to be moved to the site next week also. The New York contracting firm was awarded the contract for piers and abutments and other sub-structure work on a low bid of $4,495,477, more than a million under the state estimated cost.

A spokesman for the New York State Bridge Authority also said today that work was 75 to 80 per cent completed on the western approach to the bridge and about 40 per cent in the eastern approach. Work on the western approach should be finished in about a month, he said.

Meanwhile, the advertising for bids on the superstructure was scheduled to start this week with the first publication Thursday and the second on July 1. The engineers' estimate for this project is $9,100,000.

Engineers of the contracting firm have been in the city preparing for start of the work next week. Quarters for the contractor's engineers and other employes and state men are to be erected in the area of the bridge approaches.

Snag Is Reported

Pittsburgh, June 22 (AP)—U. S. Steel Corp. and the CIO United Steelworkers of America have hit a snag in 1954 contract talks, a source close to the negotiations said today. The source who declined to be quoted by name said the trouble could be considered serious. No indication was given as to what issue was involved. Officials of union locals across the country, the source said, have received unofficial word to lay preliminary arrangement for a strike.

Central Has No Plans For Better Service

Reports of immediate plans to improve train schedules on the West Shore Division, of the New York Central Railroad as the result of the recent election of Robert R. Young as chairman of the line's board of directors, were said today to be without foundation.

The Associated Press in New York said it learned that "no major revisions" or changes on the line have been planned, to date, although the railroad "is trying" generally to improve service.

One local rumor also said the railroad would route some western trains down the West Shore to provide direct southern connections in New Jersey.

Mundt Urges Use Of Salient Issues In Army Dispute

Would Base Any Verdict on Items, if His Proposal Is Accepted

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) urged the Senate Investigations Subcommittee today to base its verdict in the McCarthy-army dispute on "salient issues" only.

He made the comment in an interview in advance of a closed-door meeting of the subcommittee (11 a. m., EDT) to consider narrowing the areas of controversy as to what the evidence shows.

Mundt presided at 36 days of televised public hearings which sifted the welter of charges, countercharges and denials which Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides exchanged.

Proves Its Charges

The hearings wound up Thursday with Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) declaring that each side had proved its main misconduct charges against the other. These were:

1. By Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams—that McCarthy and two subcommittee aides used improper pressures in seeking special favors in the army for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee consultant.

2. By McCarthy and his aides —that Stevens and Adams used Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to "blackmail" McCarthy into halting an investigation of alleged Communists in the army.

Mundt has notified all subcommittee members that Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel for the inquiry, has agreed to assemble material to aid the senators in writing their report if the subcommittee asks him to do so. Indications so far are that there will be at least two divergent sets of findings.

Seeks Agreement

Mundt said he wants the subcommittee to agree on the main issues in dispute, then have Jenkins and Charles Maner, another special staff member, compile an index showing the senators where in the two million printed words of testimony the pertinent evidence may be found.

"We're not asking Jenkins to add up the totals and say 'guilty' or 'not guilty' for us," Mundt said. "He would list the evidence for us and we would sit around the table like members of a supreme court and reach our own conclusions."

Mundt said he is pretty thoroughly convinced there are "some areas where unanimous agreement would not be possible."

Major Fight Over Town Is Shaping

Rebel Radio Threatens Capital Bombing for Fourth Time; to Give Cabinet

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, June 22 (AP)—Government and rebel forces trumpeted rival victory claims today in the four-day-old battle for Guatemala. Both sides appeared to be mobilizing for a major fight over the key rail town of Zacapa.

President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's Communist-backed government claimed a success for its armed forces at Gualan, east of Zacapa about 20 miles inside Guatemala. It said the rebels were run out of town after a brief skirmish, but mentioned no casualties.

The "liberation radio" speaking for the anti-Red invasion forces of exiled Guatemalan leader Col. Carlos Castillo Armas claimed the rebels held 25 towns in Guatemala.

Troops Are Massing

Associated Press dispatches from Guatemala City said Arbenz' troops were massing in the area of Zacapa, a city of some 8,000 on the main rail line between the capital and the Caribbean port of Puerto Barrios.

A rebel flier interviewed near the Honduras border said Castillo Armas men also were moving by truck towards Zacapa. He said the invaders headed for the rail center after seizing the cathedral town of Esquipulas in a five-hour battle. Three Guatemalan soldiers were reported killed in that engagement.

An informed source at Tegucigalpa indicated a fight for Zacapa was shaping up. He predicted the rebels would abandon their guerrilla tactics within the next 24 hours and seek a pitched battle.

The source also said:

1. At least two Guatemalan pilots have fled their country in training planes since the invasion began Friday.

Two Bridges Destroyed

2. Two railroad bridges at Gualan had been destroyed; sabotage along the line between Gualan and Puerto Barrios has increased; a train which left Guatemala City for the port of San Jose has "simply disappeared."

3. The rebels have taken over the rail town of Morales, some 50 miles from Puerto Barrios.

4. A rebel plane machine-gunned and dropped grenades on San Jose. The rebels also announced that their planes had bombed Coban, a garrison town in central Guatemala, from a base inside the country.

The rebel radio broadcast a threat to bomb Guatemala City for the fourth time since the invasion began. The previous three bombings were by single planes and apparently did little damage.

Castillo Aramas has proclaimed his command the only legal government of Guatemala and called on his countrymen to disavow the Arbenz regime.

A spokesman here said the revolutionary "government" would announce its cabinet later today.

Castillo Armas urged foreign countries not to recognize envoys of the Arbenz regime and said he planned to send his own representatives aboard as soon as details could be worked out.

A Cuban cabinet member, Ernesto de la Fe, promptly urged his government to recognize the rebel regime. U. S. Sen. Homer E. Ferguson (R-Mich.) said in Philadelphia last night that if the rebel forces win, he would favor U. S. recognition of the new government.

In the international diplomatic arena, the Guatemalan government awaited reaction to the UN Security Council's call for a cease-fire. Pending the outcome of that, Arbenz' representatives asked the five-nation Inter-American Peace Commission in Washington to withhold action on his complaint of aggression against his government.

Conditions Are 'Poor'

Three of the four men injured early Sunday morning when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a house at Rosendale were reported as poor today. Kingston Hospital authorities listed as "poor" the conditions of Lansing Sampson, 24, of 17 Catherine street; Willard Hudson, 17, and Wilbur Schleede, 17, both of High Falls. The fourth man injured, David Mickle, Jr., 22, of High Falls, was taken to the Benedictine Hospital, where his condition was listed today as "fair."

Workers at Alsen Report to Cement Plant; Get Raise

Action Is First Break in 6-Week Strike in Area; Projects Halted

The first break in the six weeks old cement industry strike which has held up cement work over a wide area, including work on the New York State Thruway, came Monday when union officials announced workers at the North American Cement Corporation plant at Alsen had accepted a five cent an hour increase in pay and other benefits.

At Alsen today it was said the men at North American had reported for work but that men at the other plants in the area had not yet accepted settlement.

Senator Smith Wins in Maine By 5-1 Count

Portland, Maine, June 22 (AP)—Maine Republicans overwhelmingly renominated Sen. Margaret Chase Smith in yesterday's primary and handed a crushing defeat to the challenger she said Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) apparently put up against her.

By a margin of more than 5 to 1, Sen. Smith beat political novice Robert L. Jones, McCarthy's 34-year-old apostle.

GOP nomination is normally tantamount to victory in Maine.

A nearly complete count, from 613 of Maine's 626 precincts, showed 96,159 votes for the woman senator, 19,203 for Jones.

Jones carried only four of the 613 precincts, one his home city of Biddeford. In 19 others he failed to get a single vote.

100-Degree Heat Sends Local Folk to Cool Spots

A high temperature here yesterday of 100 degrees at 2 p. m., was not a record for June 21, but it was hot enough to keep people talking about the weather and employing every available means of keeping cool.

June 21, 1949 beat out yesterday by one degree for a record of 101 at the city engineer's office, but one or two points, it seems, makes little difference once the mercury gets high in the 90's.

It hit 90 at 10 a. m., today and since it was only at 88 by 10 a. m., Monday, this day appears on the way toward a record. The overnight low was 69 at 4 a. m.

Nearly a week of sucessive sunny days has kept the June rainfall far below average with only .57 recorded at the engineer's office to date in the month and a total for the year since Jan. 1 of 17.77, by the city engineer's records. This means that exceptionally heavy rains would be required to bring the June total far enough ahead for an average total of 20 inches from Jan. 1 to June 30.

Swimming Holes Crowded

Kingstonians crowded to area lakes and swimming holes Monday afternoon and evening.

At DeWitt Lake, W. L. Burnett, the owner-operator, said Monday was one of the best Mondays ever experienced at that lake from the standpoint of admissions. The weekend crowd also was large, with a near-record of over 1,000 admissions reported on Sunday, he said.

Robert Pardee, of Spring Lake, could not be reached for comment this morning, but the large number of young people carrying bathing suits and towels leaving the lake at dusk Monday indicated that that bathing beach also attracted many fugitives from sweltering city heat.

Local residents were deprived this year of one popular swimming place, Wiliams Lake near Rosendale, where the disastrous fire of last year ruined locker facilities and forced an end, temporarily at least, to the daily bathing for non-guests.

Walter Williams, proprietor of the lake, said today that he is working out a plan to make the limited facilities there available to area residents by selling season

Packard-Studebaker Merger To Be Voted Upon August 17

New York, June 22 (AP)—Stockholders of Packard Motor Car Co. and the Studebaker Corp. will vote Aug. 17 on whether to combine the two pioneer auto companies.

A consolidation of the two remaining "independents" among the car makers has been approved by their directors. The plan scheduled to be announced today, calls for election of James J. Nance, 53-year-old president of Packard, as president and principal executive officer of the new company.

The new organization would be known as the Studebaker-Packard Corp. Technically the program proposes the purchase by Packard of Studebaker's assets.

Paul G. Hoffman, 63-year-old Studebaker board chairman, will become chairman of the new company. Harold S. Vance, 63, president of Studebaker, will head an executive operating group.

Principal headquarters of the new company will be in Detroit, home of Packard. Sales will be directed by a studebaker executive.

Submitted to stockholders will be a proposal for reclassification of Packard stock on the basis of one share for each five presently held. Then Studebaker stockholders, if they approve the proposal, would get 1½ shares of the new company stock for each share of Studebaker common they now have.

The Studebaker-Packard combination is the latest move among the smaller concerns in their fight against the almost overwhelming competition of the industry's larger concerns. Last year Kaiser-Frazer and Willys-Overland joined forces. A few weeks ago Nash-Kelvinator and Hudson combined to become

Three Jets End Trip to Japan

Tokyo, June 22 (AP)—Three American B47 jets, built to carry the H-bomb, landed today at Yokota Air Base after a 6,700-mile nonstop flight from California—more than the distance from Minneapolis to Moscow.

The stratojets were slightly more than 16 hours in the air from March Field, Calif. They were refueled in the air twice.

The training flight is one of a series that has taken the planes over most of the world.

Iowa Finds Cheer In Weather Ahead

Des Moines, June 22 (AP)—The greatest flood crest in its recorded history rolled down the Des Moines River Valley in Central Iowa today. Elsewhere the statewide flood peril continued.

A cheerful note in the disastrous four-day-old floods was a forecast of generally fair weather for several days.

New rains in central Iowa yesterday added to the strain along the Des Moines river, while in the northwest the Floyd river was expected to crest for the second time in three days at Sioux City today.

More than 1,000 families were homeless in Iowa. The number was expected to multiply. The death toll was one drowning.

However, the greatest loss was in property and rich farmland which will total "millions of dollars."

The greatest threat was on the Des Moines river which cuts through the heart of Iowa past Fort Dodge, Boone and into this capital city.

Tt Boone, 40 miles north of Des Moines, the river was expected to crest today at an all-time high of 23½ feet, nearly four feet above the previous record.

Will Test Levees

Des Moines' new levee system will get its first serious test when a crest of 27 to 28 feet, four feet above flood stage, strikes late Thursday. The previous record stage was 26.5 feet seven years ago and an estimated 27.3 feet in May 1903.

Machine Removes Old Drudgery in Shelling of Peas

Ulster Park Woman Makes One in Night School —5 Pounds in 15 Seconds

You ladies who've been wearing out your patience shucking peas can relax.

There's a machine can shuck 'em for you.

Meet Mrs. Sol Rosenthal of Ulster Park who made one.

She lives at the end of Rosenthal Lane where her husband farms a handsome stretch of land —and she has quite a pea-patch.

Reads About Machine

She'd been kind of thinking about this thing for a long time —and one day she read about a new pea-shucking machine in a farm magazine. It had been developed by an engineer at the University of Minnesota.

She wrote for the plans and got busy—working in the woodwork class in adult education at Kingston High School two nights a week. Took her a winter to complete, with the valued assistance and advice of Instructor Larry Plog. She was sick for a spell, however, or she might have finished it sooner.

The pea-shucker, which is set up in the spacious basement of her home was referred to facetiously in Mrs. Rosenthal's woodwork class as "the squirrel cage."

Operation Is Simple

Very simply, it works like this. There is a cylinder of half-inch wire mesh. That means the holes are big enough for the peas to drop through after they come out of the shells. Mrs. Rosenthal tosses in about five pounds of peas into the cylinder. Running through the center of the wire cylinder, which is about 18 inches in diameter, is a threshing shaft which spins at 450 revolutions per minute, driven by a quarter horsepower dynamo.

The shells are torn from the peas which then drop through the wire mesh of the "cage" into a bin. In 15 seconds five pounds of peas have been shelled.

GOP Leaders Will Attempt To Persuade Dewey to Run

Albany, June 22 (AP) — The state's Republican leaders settled down today to the task of trying to persuade a reluctant Tom Dewey to seek a fourth term as governor.

Dewey revealed his reluctance yesterday after a 3½-hour conference with Rep. Dean P. Taylor, the GOP state chairman.

The governor said he was "deferring any statement" on his plans because of the "strong feeling" of Taylor and others that their views should be given "further consideration."

Taylor, in a separate statement, said he had agreed not to push a draft movement while Dewey was making up his mind.

The two had met to discuss reports that the governor had decided against seeking reelection this fall. Dewey had stated many times that he would make known his intentions in the spring. The season ended a few hours after the conference.

Dewey's statement, distributed after the meeting, said:

"Last year I indicated that I expected to announce my plans by the end of spring.

"I have expressed my own views to the state chairman and a number of others. Because of their strong feeling that further consideration should be given to views they have expressed, I am deferring any statement at this time."

Taylor said:

"I have again, today, discussed the state elections with Gov. Dewey at some length. At my urging and that of others, he has advised me that he will defer, for the time being, any final statement as to his plans. At the governor's specific request, I have agreed to urge that no draft movements be undertaken during this period."

Republican leaders greeted the statements with mixed relief and anxiety.

The fact that Dewey had differentiated between "my own views" and "views they have expressed" indicated there was a wide gap to close.

The two-day Republican state convention is scheduled for Syracuse Sept. 22-23.

The latest public endorsement of the governor came last night from the Federation of Women's Republican Clubs at its summer conference at Schroon Lake. A resolution said: "As women voters, we respectfully urge that you allow yourself to be the partys' candidate for governor of the Empire State. Please, we beseech you, do this."

Most Republican leaders feel that with Dewey heading the ticket the state is a cinch to stay Republican this fall—and insure New York a key role in the 1956 presidential convention. The fact that all of the state's 45 congressional seats are at stake this November is another serious consideration.

If Dewey does step down, the gubernatorial nomination undoubtedly would be offered to U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives of Norwich. Ives repeatedly has disclaimed any ambition to be governor.

To his latest pronouncement on the subject, Ives added: "I'm not fooling. Tom Dewey will be our candidate if we have to draft him."

A rebel flier interviewed near the Honduras border said Castillo Armas men also were moving by truck towards Zacapa. He said the invaders headed for the rail center after seizing the cathedral town of Esquipulas in a five-hour battle. Three Guatemalan soldiers were reported killed in that engagement.

An informed source at Tegucigalpa indicated a fight for Zacapa was shaping up. He predicted the rebels would abandon their guerrilla tactics within the next 24 hours and seek a pitched battle.

The source also said:

1. At least two Guatemalan pilots have fled their country in training planes since the invasion began Friday.

Two Bridges Destroyed

2. Two railroad bridges at Gualan had been destroyed; sabotage along the line between Gualan and Puerto Barrios has increased; a train which left Guatemala City for the port of San Jose has "simply disappeared."

3. The rebels have taken over the rail town of Morales, some 50 miles from Puerto Barrios.

4. A rebel plane machine-gunned and dropped grenades on San Jose. The rebels also announced that their planes had bombed Coban, a garrison town in central Guatemala, from a base inside the country.

The rebel radio broadcast a threat to bomb Guatemala City for the fourth time since the invasion began. The previous three bombings were by single planes and apparently did little damage.

Castillo Aramas has proclaimed his command the only legal government of Guatemala and called on his countrymen to disavow the Arbenz regime.

A spokesman here said the revolutionary "government" would announce its cabinet later today.

Castillo Armas urged foreign countries not to recognize envoys of the Arbenz regime and said he planned to send his own representatives aboard as soon as details could be worked out.

A Cuban cabinet member, Ernesto de la Fe, promptly urged his government to recognize the rebel regime. U. S. Sen. Homer E. Ferguson (R-Mich.) said in Philadelphia last night that if the rebel forces win, he would favor U. S. recognition of the new government.

In the international diplomatic arena, the Guatemalan government awaited reaction to the UN Security Council's call for a cease-fire. Pending the outcome of that, Arbenz' representatives asked the five-nation Inter-American Peace Commission in Washington to withhold action on his complaint of aggression against his government.

Conditions Are 'Poor'

Three of the four men injured early Sunday morning when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a house at Rosendale were reported as poor today. Kingston Hospital authorities listed as "poor" the conditions of Lansing Sampson, 24, of 17 Catherine street; Willard Hudson, 17, and Wilbur Schleede, 17, both of High Falls. The fourth man injured, David Mickle, Jr., 22, of High Falls, was taken to the Benedictine Hospital, where his condition was listed today as "fair."

Workers at Alsen Report to Cement Plant; Get Raise

Action Is First Break in 6-Week Strike in Area; Projects Halted

The first break in the six weeks old cement industry strike which has held up cement work over a wide area, including work on the New York State Thruway, came Monday when union officials announced workers at the North American Cement Corporation plant at Alsen had accepted a five cent an hour increase in pay and other benefits.

At Alsen today it was said the men at North American had reported for work but that men at the other plants in the area had not yet accepted settlement.

Men in several Hudson river cement plants quit work when a

Senator Smith Wins in Maine By 5-1 Count

Portland, Maine, June 22 (AP)—Maine Republicans overwhelmingly renominated Sen. Margaret Chase Smith in yesterday's primary and handed a crushing defeat to the challenger she said Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) apparently put up against her.

By a margin of more than 5 to 1, Sen. Smith beat political novice Robert L. Jones, McCarthy's 34-year-old apostle.

GOP nomination is normally tantamount to victory in Maine.

A nearly complete count, from 613 of Maine's 626 precincts, showed 96,159 votes for the woman senator, 19,203 for Jones.

Jones carried only four of the 613 precincts, one his home city of Biddeford. In 19 others he failed to get a single vote.

100-Degree Heat Sends Local Folk to Cool Spots

A high temperature here yesterday of 100 degrees at 2 p. m., was not a record for June 21, but it was hot enough to keep people talking about the weather and employing every available means of keeping cool.

June 21, 1949 beat out yesterday by one degree for a record of 101 at the city engineer's office, but one or two points, it seems, makes little difference once the mercury gets high in the 90's.

It hit 90 at 10 a. m., today and since it was only at 88 by 10 a. m., Monday, this day appears on the way toward a record. The overnight low was 69 at 4 a. m.

Nearly a week of sucessive sunny days has kept the June rainfall far below average with only .57 recorded at the engineer's office to date in the month and a total for the year since Jan. 1 of 17.77, by the city engineer's records. This means that exceptionally heavy rains would be required to bring the June total far enough ahead for an average total of 20 inches from Jan. 1 to June 30.

Swimming Holes Crowded

Kingstonians crowded to area lakes and swimming holes Monday afternoon and evening.

At DeWitt Lake, W. L. Burnett, the owner-operator, said Monday was one of the best Mondays ever experienced at that lake from the standpoint of admissions. The weekend crowd also was large, with a near-record of over 1,000 admissions reported on Sunday, he said.

Robert Pardee, of Spring Lake, could not be reached for comment this morning, but the large number of young people carrying bathing suits and towels leaving the lake at dusk Monday indicated that that bathing beach also attracted many fugitives from sweltering city heat.

Local residents were deprived this year of one popular swimming place, Wiliams Lake near Rosendale, where the disastrous fire of last year ruined locker facilities and forced an end, temporarily at least, to the daily bathing for non-guests.

Walter Williams, proprietor of the lake, said today that he is working out a plan to make the limited facilities there available to area residents by selling season

Three Jets End Trip to Japan

Tokyo, June 22 (AP)—Three American B47 jets, built to carry the H-bomb, landed today at Yokota Air Base after a 6,700-mile nonstop flight from California—more than the distance from Minneapolis to Moscow.

The stratojets were slightly more than 16 hours in the air from March Field, Calif. They were refueled in the air twice.

The training flight is one of a series that has taken the planes over most of the world.

Iowa Finds Cheer In Weather Ahead

Des Moines, June 22 (AP)—The greatest flood crest in its recorded history rolled down the Des Moines River Valley in Central Iowa today. Elsewhere the statewide flood peril continued.

A cheerful note in the disastrous four-day-old floods was a forecast of generally fair weather for several days.

New rains in central Iowa yesterday added to the strain along the Des Moines river, while in the northwest the Floyd river was expected to crest for the second time in three days at Sioux City today.

More than 1,000 families were homeless in Iowa. The number was expected to multiply. The death toll was one drowning.

However, the greatest loss was in property and rich farmland which will total "millions of dollars."

The greatest threat was on the Des Moines river which cuts through the heart of Iowa past Fort Dodge, Boone and into this capital city.

Tt Boone, 40 miles north of Des Moines, the river was expected to crest today at an all-time high of 23½ feet, nearly four feet above the previous record.

Will Test Levees

Des Moines' new levee system will get its first serious test when a crest of 27 to 28 feet, four feet above flood stage, strikes late Thursday. The previous record stage was 26.5 feet seven years ago and an estimated 27.3 feet in May 1903.

Machine Removes Old Drudgery in Shelling of Peas

Ulster Park Woman Makes One in Night School —5 Pounds in 15 Seconds

You ladies who've been wearing out your patience shucking peas can relax.

There's a machine can shuck 'em for you.

Meet Mrs. Sol Rosenthal of Ulster Park who made one.

She lives at the end of Rosenthal Lane where her husband farms a handsome stretch of land —and she has quite a pea-patch.

Reads About Machine

She'd been kind of thinking about this thing for a long time —and one day she read about a new pea-shucking machine in a farm magazine. It had been developed by an engineer at the University of Minnesota.

She wrote for the plans and got busy—working in the woodwork class in adult education at Kingston High School two nights a week. Took her a winter to complete, with the valued assistance and advice of Instructor Larry Plog. She was sick for a spell, however, or she might have finished it sooner.

The pea-shucker, which is set up in the spacious basement of her home was referred to facetiously in Mrs. Rosenthal's woodwork class as "the squirrel cage."

Operation Is Simple

Very simply, it works like this. There is a cylinder of half-inch wire mesh. That means the holes are big enough for the peas to drop through after they come out of the shells. Mrs. Rosenthal tosses in about five pounds of peas into the cylinder. Running through the center of the wire cylinder, which is about 18 inches in diameter, is a threshing shaft which spins at 450 revolutions per minute, driven by a quarter horsepower dynamo.

The shells are torn from the peas which then drop through the wire mesh of the "cage" into a bin. In 15 seconds five pounds of peas have been shelled.

GOP Leaders Will Attempt To Persuade Dewey to Run

Albany, June 22 (AP) — The state's Republican leaders settled down today to the task of trying to persuade a reluctant Tom Dewey to seek a fourth term as governor.

Dewey revealed his reluctance yesterday after a 3½-hour conference with Rep. Dean P. Taylor, the GOP state chairman.

The governor said he was "deferring any statement" on his plans because of the "strong feeling" of Taylor and others that their views should be given "further consideration."

Taylor, in a separate statement, said he had agreed not to push a draft movement while Dewey was making up his mind.

The two had met to discuss reports that the governor had decided against seeking reelection this fall. Dewey had stated many times that he would make known his intentions in the spring. The season ended a few hours after the conference.

Dewey's statement, distributed after the meeting, said:

"Last year I indicated that I expected to announce my plans by the end of spring.

"I have expressed my own views to the state chairman and a number of others. Because of their strong feeling that further consideration should be given to views they have expressed, I am deferring any statement at this time."

Taylor said:

"I have again, today, discussed the state elections with Gov. Dewey at some length. At my urging and that of others, he has advised me that he will defer, for the time being, any final statement as to his plans. At the governor's specific request, I have agreed to urge that no draft movements be undertaken during this period."

Republican leaders greeted the statements with mixed relief and anxiety.

The fact that Dewey had differentiated between "my own views" and "views they have expressed" indicated there was a wide gap to close.

The two-day Republican state convention is scheduled for Syracuse Sept. 22-23.

The latest public endorsement of the governor came last night from the Federation of Women's Republican Clubs at its summer conference at Schroon Lake. A resolution said: "As women voters, we respectfully urge that you allow yourself to be the partys' candidate for governor of the Empire State. Please, we beseech you, do this."

Most Republican leaders feel that with Dewey heading the ticket the state is a cinch to stay Republican this fall—and insure New York a key role in the 1956 presidential convention. The fact that all of the state's 45 congressional seats are at stake this November is another serious consideration.

If Dewey does step down, the gubernatorial nomination undoubtedly would be offered to U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives of Norwich. Ives repeatedly has disclaimed any ambition to be governor.

To his latest pronouncement on the subject, Ives added: "I'm not fooling. Tom Dewey will be our candidate if we have to draft him."

Packard-Studebaker Merger To Be Voted Upon August 17

New York, June 22 (AP)—Stockholders of Packard Motor Car Co. and the Studebaker Corp. will vote Aug. 17 on whether to combine the two pioneer auto companies.

A consolidation of the two remaining "independents" among the car makers has been approved by their directors. The plan scheduled to be announced today, calls for election of James J. Nance, 53-year-old president of Packard, as president and principal executive officer of the new company.

The new organization would be known as the Studebaker-Packard Corp. Technically the program proposes the purchase by Packard of Studebaker's assets.

Paul G. Hoffman, 63-year-old Studebaker board chairman, will become chairman of the new company. Harold S. Vance, 63, president of Studebaker, will head an executive operating group.

Principal headquarters of the new company will be in Detroit, home of Packard. Sales will be directed by a studebaker executive.

Submitted to stockholders will be a proposal for reclassification of Packard stock on the basis of one share for each five presently held. Then Studebaker stockholders, if they approve the proposal, would get 1½ shares of the new company stock for each share of Studebaker common they now have.

The Studebaker-Packard combination is the latest move among the smaller concerns in their fight against the almost overwhelming competition of the industry's larger concerns. Last year Kaiser-Frazer and Willys-Overland joined forces. A few weeks ago Nash-Kelvinator and Hudson combined to become

The union struck against what it termed unfair labor practices. The State Labor Relations Board will hold a hearing Monday on the charge.

Concrete Work To Start as Soon As Cement Arrives

Spokesman for a contractor on New York State Thruway work in the Route 28 area said today that concrete work had been progressing on bridge decks throughout the strike, and work on the interchange system just west of the city is ready to start as soon as the cement is available.

Some of the cement used on the bridge decks in the area was imported from points in Pennsylvania and elsewhere at an additional cost to contractors, he said.

Grading on the Kingston-Whiteport section of the expressway has been progressing during the weeks of the strike and concrete work is expected to start there as soon as cement is available.

Resumption Expected

Prior to the strike concrete work was moving along rapidly on sections between New Paltz and Newburgh and this work should be resumed full-scale as soon as enough cement arrives.

Workmen have been preparing to eliminate sections of the spur which now diverts Route 28 traffic in the interchange area of the thruway. Traffic will pass under the Route 28 bridge over a new detour route until the approaches of the Route 28 bridge are completed.

One of the first strips to be completed, when the cement arrives, is one of a few hundred feet to bring the thruway up to Route 28 bridge.

Cigarettes Cut Life Span, Says Cancer Society

By ALTON A. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Reporter)

San Francisco, June 22 (AP)—Cigarettes may affect your choice of odds of how long you'd like to live, says Dr. Charles S. Cameron, medical director of the American Cancer Society (ACS).

Smoking cigarettes apparently cuts the odds, at least for men aged 50 to 70.

An ACS study of nearly 200,000 men finds that pack-a-day or more smokers apparently cut five to 10 years off their lives compared with non-smokers. The heavy cigarette smokers are found to be twice as susceptible to fatal heart attacks and deaths from cancer of various kinds, including lung cancer, as non-smokers.

Dr. Cameron was commenting today upon these findings reported to the American Medical Assn. by E. Cuyler Hammond, D.SC., and Daniel Horn, Ph.D., statisticians of the ACS, both of whom have foregone cigarettes in favor of pipes.

Changes to Cigars

Dr. Cameron quit smoking cigarettes a week ago—this is his third attempt in four years—and was smoking a cigar.

From these findings, he said, "it can be said that a man of 50 who has never smoked has about one chance in 100 of dying within 18 months. A neighbor, of the same age, who has smoked regularly at some time or other during his life has about one chance in 67. Another, smoking a pack or more of cigarettes daily, has about one chance in 50."

"These different odds will seem impressive enough to some to motivate them to break a certain habit of a lifetime. To others, the odds will not appear worth the trouble."

Individuals Must Decide

"Personally, I believe that a life of outward productiveness and inward serenity is more important than how long life is and, therefore, I could not try to convert anyone from what he believes contributes to his productivity and happiness. That is a decision which only each individual, in possession of the facts, can make for himself."

Three Persons Die

Albany, June 22 (AP)—Summer splashed its sultry heat over New York state today in a hot spell that was blamed for the deaths of at least three persons. Spring, which departed officially at 6:55 last night, unleashed a parting afternoon heat blast that sent temperatures soaring into the nineties in south-central and southeastern counties. In Albany, where the three deaths occurred, the mercury hit 92. The victims were William Mullin, 63; Mrs. Nora M. Rhyne, 67, and Mrs. Margaret Daniels, 73. Coroner W. Ronan Campion said all died of heat-induced heart attacks.

Food Prices Boost Living Costs in U.S.

Washington, June 22 (AP)—The government reported today that living costs edged up three-tenths of one per cent in May due to higher food prices.

The increase brought the index to 115.0 per cent of the 1947-49 average, or the same level as was recorded for last August, November and February. In May of last year it was 114.0.

The increase meant no change in hourly wages for one million railroad workers whose pay rates are geared by labor contract to the May index. They had stood to lose one cent an hour if the May index was below 114.8.

The living cost increase between April and May was due chiefly to hikes in prices the housewife paid at the grocery.

Foods rose in 45 out of the 46 cities surveyed, averaging eight-tenths of one per cent higher for the month. Higher prices for meats, fresh fruits and vegetables, frozen juices and canned orange juice were reported.

Housing costs advanced three-tenths of one per cent. This was due to an annual revision in the government index to take account of changing real estate taxes, mortgage interest and fire insurance charges. Higher taxes contributed mostly to this increase. Rents were up only slightly between April and May.

Hollenbeck Found Dead

New York, June 22 (AP)—CBS TV commentator Don Hollenbeck was found dead of gas in his midtown hotel apartment today and police said it apparently was a case of suicide. Hollenbeck lived at the Middletown Hotel, 148 East 48th street in Manhattan. Police said there were five open gas jets in the apartment.

Burglaries, Other Thefts Reported To Local Police

Local police today found other burglaries and petty thefts added to the list of those already under investigation.

A burglary was reported early today at the Lansdell Oil Co., office, 49 Teller street, another petty theft was reported from a parked car in the uptown area and the W. C. Schryver Lumber Co., 369 Foxhall avenue, was reported entered over the past weekend.

It was indicated that more than $100 was taken from a desk drawer in the office of the Lansdell Oil Co., after entrance had been made through a rear window.

A window was reported broken and the office ransacked in the Schryver lumber building, but nothing was reported missing.

The local police said this afternoon that a 16-year-old boy was being questioned in conjunction with the theft at the Lansdell Co., building and entry of the Schryver building and that state police had recovered the car reported stolen Sunday from the Martin-Moran garage. The car was located on Washington avenue near the viaduct.

Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the City of Kingston Laboratory, reported yesterday that Triple-A coupons valued at $10, a pair of sun glasses and road maps were taken from his car while it was parked in the rear of the Franklin Pharmacy yesterday morning.

Officers Gerald Every and Raymond Wells investigated the theft at the Lansdell Oil Co., after it was reported to police headquarters and details were referred to Detective Clarence Brophy.

Theft of a car from the Martin-Moran garage on East Chester street over the week-end was still under investigation. It was also reported that the garage had been entered.

Police were also notified yesterday that a wooden horse barrier 14 feet long and three feet high was taken from the area of the sewer project on Mary's avenue.

Garage Is Entered

W. H. Swarthout, of 185 Green street, reported at 5:15 p. m., yesterday that a box of tools and other items valued at $200 were taken from his garage, and the report said he had found evidence of someone "living" above the garage.

At 11:15 p. m. Mrs. Swarthout notified police that she had seen a man enter the garage. Officers Joseph Kivlan and Everett Emmick went there and arrested Joseph Burns, 53, who, police said, has no home. He was arraigned today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino on a vagrancy charge, and the case was put over until Wednesday morning.

Kingston Hospital Approves Plan on Associated Service

Kingston Hospital's board of trustees last night approved a plan that permits subscribers of various Blue Cross hospitalization plans to receive benefits of Associated Hospital Service at Kingston Hospital.

The board approved signing with Inter-Plan Service Benefit Bank, an agreement which permits subscribers of the other plans to receive the benefits.

By-laws were amended to provide for the Kingston Hospital Association which aims to establish a closer relationship and better understanding between the hospital and the people of the area in which it serves. It will also provide assistance to trustees and management and encourage active participation of members of the Kingston Hospital Corp, in selecting trustees. The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra of the Fair Street Reformed Church, is the association's president.

Dr. Edward Weissman of 231 Clinton avenue, on recommendation of the medical board, was appointed to the courtesy staff.

Contracts for fuel oil with deliveries scheduled to start July 1, were awarded.

Tractor Hits Pole, Cutting Off Power

Electric power in the area north of Highland was cut off for about an hour this morning when a tractor trailer ran off Route 9W down a 10-foot embankment and broke off a Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation pole about 5:30 a. m.

State police said the truck was owned by the L. & M. Fruit Company of Utica and driven by Louis Alam, 46, of Mohawk street, Utica. Alam received a minor laceration of the scalp and contusions of the left leg, troopers said.

The accident happened about four miles north of Highland when the northbound vehicle went off the east shoulder of the highway.

Truman Still Very Ill

Kansas City, June 22 (AP)—Harry S. Truman's physician said last night the former President is getting along as well as expected after his emergency operation but added, "it's a pretty rough situation." Dr. Wallace Graham said he had not allowed his patient to walk yet and he was not yet out of danger. The 70-year-old Truman, however, was talking about getting out of the hospital. He underwent the operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix Sunday after becoming ill while attending an outdoor theatre production last Friday.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 22 (AP) — Tobacco shares were under strong selling pressure today. Otherwise, the stock market advanced briskly with volume substantially above two million shares.

Yesterday, the American Cancer Society reported a link between cigarette smoking and cancer and heart disease. It took nearly three-quarters of an hour for brokers to combine buy and sell orders for American Tobacco. Then, the nation's leading tobacco producer opened at 56 on a block of 12,100 shares, off 3½ points and a new low.

About the Folks

James Snyder of 7 St. James Court is reported much improved at the Benedictine Hospital, where he has been a patient since a recent attack of illness.

Workers at Alsen

contract ran out on April 30, and they were later joined by workmen in other plants, including the Howe Cavern plant and some in the Pennsylvania area.

215 Are at Jobs

The 215 employees, members of Local 50, AFL United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers, at North American accepted the proposals offered and reported for work today. The agreement in addition to a five cent an hour increase in pay also invokes an additional five cent increase next year and for holiday pay at two and one-half times the base wage.

Other Hudson valley and Pennsylvania cement plants that have been tied up by strikes for new agreements include Alpha, Universal-Atlas and Lehigh Cement.

The union's original demand was reported to have been for a 10 per cent wage increase plus a union shop and fringe benefits. The present wage scale at the plants is reported to range from $1.50 to $2 an hour.

Shortage of cement has halted much work in the affected area and many trades which are dependent upon use of cement have been forced to lay off workmen. Locally a number of carpenters occupied on cement form work on the Thruway were laid off when cement ceased to flow to the jobs. Other trades also reduced forces.

Machine Removes

shucker shuck?

Mrs. Rosenthal says it can shuck a bushel in one minute and 10 seconds. It would take a housewife almost four hours to do the same job.

She gets about eight quarts of peas per bushel—puts them up in frozen packages for her own use.

The machine is about three feet long and three high and can be lifted, although with some effort. Sixteen dollars worth of wood alone—oak and pine—went into construction.

Mrs. Rosenthal's husband, a graduate of the Long Island Institute of Agriculture in 1940, has lived in Ulster Park all his life. She was originally from New York. They have three children—10, eight and three-and-a-half.

Senator Smith

Smith, the Jones defeat scarcely could be translated into one for McCarthy, too.

The Wisconsin senator never was a solid issue during the campaign, and neither contestant contended he was.

Furthermore, it wasn't until the eve of the primary that Sen. Smith said that it appeared McCarthy planted Jones in the race.

The Smith-Jones battle was the only state-wide contest in the primary.

In the September general election, it will be Sen. Smith versus Democrat Paul Fullam, Colby College history professor, who had no competition in the primary.

Iowa Finds Cheer

Dodge, Webster City and Boone, where a battle to save the waterworks is being made.

At Sioux City, where 14 lives were lost in last year's flash flood, a crest two feet higher than the 20.8 level of Sunday was expected today. The Floyd rolled near the tops of levees but officials were optimistic they would hold. Trucks loaded with 3,000 sandbags stood by if a leak should occur.

The Federal Soil Conservation Service estimates 725,000 acres of crop land has been under water three weeks. This figure does not include the overflows of the last two days.

Federal Reserve Is To Relax Money

Washington, June 22 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board has relaxed a little further its check-rein on the money market, promising in effect to keep business credit cheap and plentiful for the foreseeable future.

The Reserve Board, whose basic function is to regulate the supply of money and credit, announced the new easy money move late yesterday. It said it would drop reserve requirements enough to unleash a new flow of credit amounting to a potential nine billion dollars.

Byrne Ross Sale Due for Tax Money

A public sale to collect unpaid taxes has been announced by the office of the district director of Internal Revenue for July 8 at the Byrne Ross Mills, 106 Prince street, this city.

According to the notice of sale published by R. J. Ratterree, district director of Internal Revenue at Albany, the sale at 10 a. m., will offer various sewing and other machines, irons, a steam boiler, fluorescent lights, fire extinguishers, hampers, shelving, water cooler, adding machine, other office equipment, and motors.

The notice said that seizure of the property to be sold was for nonpayment of assessed withheld federal taxes and unemployment taxes due.

Concrete Work To Start as Soon As Cement Arrives

Spokesman for a contractor on New York State Thruway work in the Route 28 area said today that concrete work had been progressing on bridge decks throughout the strike, and work on the interchange system just west of the city is ready to start as soon as the cement is available.

Some of the cement used on the bridge decks in the area was imported from points in Pennsylvania and elsewhere at an additional cost to contractors, he said.

Grading on the Kingston-Whiteport section of the expressway has been progressing during the weeks of the strike and concrete work is expected to start there as soon as cement is available.

Resumption Expected

Prior to the strike concrete work was moving along rapidly on sections between New Paltz and Newburgh and this work should be resumed full-scale as soon as enough cement arrives.

Workmen have been preparing to eliminate sections of the spur which now diverts Route 28 traffic in the interchange area of the thruway. Traffic will pass under the Route 28 bridge over a new detour route until the approaches of the Route 28 bridge are completed.

One of the first strips to be completed, when the cement arrives, is one of a few hundred feet to bring the thruway up to Route 28 bridge.

Cigarettes Cut Life Span, Says Cancer Society

By ALTON A. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Reporter)

San Francisco, June 22 (AP)—Cigarettes may affect your choice of odds of how long you'd like to live, says Dr. Charles S. Cameron, medical director of the American Cancer Society (ACS).

Smoking cigarettes apparently cuts the odds, at least for men aged 50 to 70.

An ACS study of nearly 200,000 men finds that pack-a-day or more smokers apparently cut five to 10 years off their lives compared with non-smokers. The heavy cigarette smokers are found to be twice as susceptible to fatal heart attacks and deaths from cancer of various kinds, including lung cancer, as non-smokers.

Dr. Cameron was commenting today upon these findings reported to the American Medical Assn. by E. Cuyler Hammond, D.SC., and Daniel Horn, Ph.D., statisticians of the ACS, both of whom have foregone cigarettes in favor of pipes.

Changes to Cigars

Dr. Cameron quit smoking cigarettes a week ago—this is his third attempt in four years—and was smoking a cigar.

From these findings, he said, "it can be said that a man of 50 who has never smoked has about one chance in 100 of dying within 18 months. A neighbor, of the same age, who has smoked regularly at some time or other during his life has about one chance in 67. Another, smoking a pack or more of cigarettes daily, has about one chance in 50."

"These different odds will seem impressive enough to some to motivate them to break a certain habit of a lifetime. To others, the odds will not appear worth the trouble."

Individuals Must Decide

"Personally, I believe that a life of outward productiveness and inward serenity is more important than how long life is and, therefore, I could not try to convert anyone from what he believes contributes to his productivity and happiness. That is a decision which only each individual, in possession of the facts, can make for himself."

Three Persons Die

Albany, June 22 (AP)—Summer splashed its sultry heat over New York state today in a hot spell that was blamed for the deaths of at least three persons. Spring, which departed officially at 6:55 last night, unleashed a parting afternoon heat blast that sent temperatures soaring into the nineties in south-central and southeastern counties. In Albany, where the three deaths occurred, the mercury hit 92. The victims were William Mullin, 63; Mrs. Nora M. Rhyne, 67, and Mrs. Margaret Daniels, 73. Coroner W. Ronan Campion said all died of heat-induced heart attacks.

Food Prices Boost Living Costs in U.S.

Washington, June 22 (AP)—The government reported today that living costs edged up three-tenths of one per cent in May due to higher food prices.

The increase brought the index to 115.0 per cent of the 1947-49 average, or the same level as was recorded for last August, November and February. In May of last year it was 114.0.

The increase meant no change in hourly wages for one million railroad workers whose pay rates are geared by labor contract to the May index. They had stood to lose one cent an hour if the May index was below 114.8.

The living cost increase between April and May was due chiefly to hikes in prices the housewife paid at the grocery.

Foods rose in 45 out of the 46 cities surveyed, averaging eight-tenths of one per cent higher for the month. Higher prices for meats, fresh fruits and vegetables, frozen juices and canned orange juice were reported.

Housing costs advanced three-tenths of one per cent. This was due to an annual revision in the government index to take account of changing real estate taxes, mortgage interest and fire insurance charges. Higher taxes contributed mostly to this increase. Rents were up only slightly between April and May.

Hollenbeck Found Dead

New York, June 22 (AP)—CBS TV commentator Don Hollenbeck was found dead of gas in his midtown hotel apartment today and police said it apparently was a case of suicide. Hollenbeck lived at the Middletown Hotel, 148 East 48th street in Manhattan. Police said there were five open gas jets in the apartment.

Burglaries, Other Thefts Reported To Local Police

Local police today found other burglaries and petty thefts added to the list of those already under investigation.

A burglary was reported early today at the Lansdell Oil Co., office, 49 Teller street, another petty theft was reported from a parked car in the uptown area and the W. C. Schryver Lumber Co., 369 Foxhall avenue, was reported entered over the past weekend.

It was indicated that more than $100 was taken from a desk drawer in the office of the Lansdell Oil Co., after entrance had been made through a rear window.

A window was reported broken and the office ransacked in the Schryver lumber building, but nothing was reported missing.

The local police said this afternoon that a 16-year-old boy was being questioned in conjunction with the theft at the Lansdell Co., building and entry of the Schryver building and that state police had recovered the car reported stolen Sunday from the Martin-Moran garage. The car was located on Washington avenue near the viaduct.

Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the City of Kingston Laboratory, reported yesterday that Triple-A coupons valued at $10, a pair of sun glasses and road maps were taken from his car while it was parked in the rear of the Franklin Pharmacy yesterday morning.

Officers Gerald Every and Raymond Wells investigated the theft at the Lansdell Oil Co., after it was reported to police headquarters and details were referred to Detective Clarence Brophy.

Theft of a car from the Martin-Moran garage on East Chester street over the week-end was still under investigation. It was also reported that the garage had been entered.

Police were also notified yesterday that a wooden horse barrier 14 feet long and three feet high was taken from the area of the sewer project on Mary's avenue.

Garage Is Entered

W. H. Swarthout, of 185 Green street, reported at 5:15 p. m., yesterday that a box of tools and other items valued at $200 were taken from his garage, and the report said he had found evidence of someone "living" above the garage.

At 11:15 p. m. Mrs. Swarthout notified police that she had seen a man enter the garage. Officers Joseph Kivlan and Everett Emmick went there and arrested Joseph Burns, 53, who, police said, has no home. He was arraigned today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino on a vagrancy charge, and the case was put over until Wednesday morning.

Kingston Hospital Approves Plan on Associated Service

Kingston Hospital's board of trustees last night approved a plan that permits subscribers of various Blue Cross hospitalization plans to receive benefits of Associated Hospital Service at Kingston Hospital.

The board approved signing with Inter-Plan Service Benefit Bank, an agreement which permits subscribers of the other plans to receive the benefits.

By-laws were amended to provide for the Kingston Hospital Association which aims to establish a closer relationship and better understanding between the hospital and the people of the area in which it serves. It will also provide assistance to trustees and management and encourage active participation of members of the Kingston Hospital Corp. in selecting trustees. The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra of the Fair Street Reformed Church, is the association's president.

Dr. Edward Weissman of 231 Clinton avenue, on recommendation of the medical board, was appointed to the courtesy staff.

Contracts for fuel oil with deliveries scheduled to start July 1, were awarded.

Tractor Hits Pole, Cutting Off Power

Electric power in the area north of Highland was cut off for about an hour this morning when a tractor trailer ran off Route 9W down a 10-foot embankment and broke off a Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation pole about 5:30 a. m.

State police said the truck was owned by the L. & M. Fruit Company of Utica and driven by Louis Alam, 46, of Mohawk street, Utica. Alam received a minor laceration of the scalp and contusions of the left leg, troopers said.

The accident happened about four miles north of Highland when the northbound vehicle went off the east shoulder of the highway.

Truman Still Very Ill

Kansas City, June 22 (AP)—Harry S. Truman's physician said last night the former President is getting along as well as expected after his emergency operation but added, "it's a pretty rough situation." Dr. Wallace Graham said he had not allowed his patient to walk yet and he was not yet out of danger. The 70-year-old Truman, however, was talking about getting out of the hospital. He underwent the operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix Sunday after becoming ill while attending an outdoor theatre production last Friday.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 22 (AP) — Tobacco shares were under strong selling pressure today. Otherwise, the stock market advanced briskly with volume substantially above two million shares.

Yesterday, the American Cancer Society reported a link between cigarette smoking and cancer and heart disease. It took nearly three-quarters of an hour for brokers to combine buy and sell orders for American Tobacco. Then, the nation's leading tobacco producer opened at 56 on a block of 12,100 shares, off 3½ points and a new low.

About the Folks

James Snyder of 7 St. James Court is reported much improved at the Benedictine Hospital, where he has been a patient since a recent attack of illness.

Workers at Alsen

contract ran out on April 30, and they were later joined by workmen in other plants, including the Howe Cavern plant and some in the Pennsylvania area.

215 Are at Jobs

The 215 employees, members of Local 50, AFL United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers, at North American accepted the proposals offered and reported for work today. The agreement in addition to a five cent an hour increase in pay also invokes an additional five cent increase next year and for holiday pay at two and one-half times the base wage.

Other Hudson valley and Pennsylvania cement plants that have been tied up by strikes for new agreements include Alpha, Universal-Atlas and Lehigh Cement.

The union's original demand was reported to have been for a 10 per cent wage increase plus a union shop and fringe benefits. The present wage scale at the plants is reported to range from $1.50 to $2 an hour.

Shortage of cement has halted much work in the affected area and many trades which are dependent upon use of cement have been forced to lay off workmen. Locally a number of carpenters occupied on cement form work on the Thruway were laid off when cement ceased to flow to the jobs. Other trades also reduced forces.

shucker shuck?

Mrs. Rosenthal says it can shuck a bushel in one minute and 10 seconds. It would take a housewife almost four hours to do the same job.

She gets about eight quarts of peas per bushel—puts them up in frozen packages for her own use.

The machine is about three feet long and three high and can be lifted, although with some effort. Sixteen dollars worth of wood alone—oak and pine—went into construction.

Mrs. Rosenthal's husband, a graduate of the Long Island Institute of Agriculture in 1940, has lived in Ulster Park all his life. She was originally from New York. They have three children—10, eight and three-and-a-half.

Senator Smith

Smith, the Jones defeat scarcely could be translated into one for McCarthy, too.

The Wisconsin senator never was a solid issue during the campaign, and neither contestant contended he was.

Furthermore, it wasn't until the eve of the primary that Sen. Smith said that it appeared McCarthy planted Jones in the race.

The Smith-Jones battle was the only state-wide contest in the primary.

In the September general election, it will be Sen. Smith versus Democrat Paul Fullam, Colby College history professor, who had no competition in the primary.

Federal Reserve Is To Relax Money

Washington, June 22 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board has relaxed a little further its checkrein on the money market, promising in effect to keep business credit cheap and plentiful for the foreseeable future.

The Reserve Board, whose basic function is to regulate the supply of money and credit, announced the new easy money move late yesterday. It said it would drop reserve requirements enough to unleash a new flow of credit amounting to a potential nine billion dollars.

Threats in Tunisia Are Sharp as in Indochina

(Tunisia, the size of Louisiana, is halfway between Gibraltar and Suez. A World War 2 battleground, today it is the scene of terrorism that threatens France with another problem on the scale of Indochina. William L. Ryan tells the story in this second of his articles on the shaky French Empire.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Tunis (AP)—A five-year-old boy was murdered in cold blood, and suddenly Frenchmen wondered if they were going to have another Indochina on their hands.

The boy was the son of a Tunisian farmer who had been a member of a new "army of liberation" but had quit. The child was slain out of vengeance and as a warning to others.

In May this "army of liberation," known simply as the Fellagahs and once considered only bandits, started a hit-and-run warfare against the French with naked terror as a weapon. The terror is still going on.

I have seen Indochina and I have seen nationalist movements in action in many parts of the world. In North Africa there are all the elements for a future bloody hide-and-seek war. The nervous peace enforced by guns in Tunis is broken frequently by violent death which stalks Frenchman and Moslem alike in the dark.

Tunisians Shudder

The French say the Fellagahs number only about 800 but admit they now are organized. Tunisians say the Fellagahs number many more, an organized force which can march miles on almost no food under harsh conditions in a type of guerrilla warfare. To match that the French would need equally hardy native troops. Raising such a force is difficult—fear of reprisals against families is fresh in the minds of all Tunisians.

Fellagah reinforcements are believed to train a school near Tripoli, in Libya. This report came from many sources, both French and Tunisian. They agree that the Fellagahs are being trained with modern weapons, although they use leftover guns of World War 2. The Fellagahs are often uniformed and often wear insignia of rank.

Some belief is expressed that North African soldiers captured in Indochina by the Communist have received "political re-education," and been sent to Tunisia to train and possibly even lead fellagahs. French sources say bodies of North African veterans have turned up among the Fellagah dead in Tunisian skirmishes.

Believe Ex-Nazis Active

Other sources believe e-Nazis from Egypt are active. Both Tunisian and French sources agree that the Fellagah army is paid regular army pay and is trained by non-Arabs. Arms, say both French and Tunisians, come from Libya. "Commandos" trained in the school near Tripoli, say these informants, join the Fellagahs across the mountain defiles where once American GIs and British Tommies fought Rommel's forces.

Until recently the Fellagahs attacked in small groups of 20, slinking away into the night. Now the attacks are growing in strength. A pitched battle with a force of about 100 was reported recently.

The Fellagahs live off the land, forcing themselves on colonists who are obliged to shelter them them or suffer death—as some have.

Many of the things the Fellagahs do are not characteristic of Moslems—wanton killing for political vengeance and the suicide of men facing capture, for instance. But the French say inspiration has been given the Fellagahs from Moslem Cairo and the Arab League, whose stated ambition is to extend Islam's influence from Pacific to Atlantic. Radio Cairo has kept up insistent propaganda against the French in North Africa. It hailed French defeats in Indochina as victories for "liberation forces."

Suspect Communists

The French also suspect that there may be help from Communists, but they still cannot lay their hands on conclusive evidence. Nor is there evidence to link the Fellagahs to the Neo-Destour (new constitutional) party of the Tunisian Nationalists. Habib Bourguiba, Nationalist leader who is exiled on an island off Brittany, disclaims any connection. That would mean the situation was out of the hands of the nominal leaders. It would mean the French, in any negotiations with the Nationalists, have no guarantee such negotiations can lead to peace.

Fellagah terror erupted suddenly in May after a six-month period without a single major incident in Tunisia. The French at once poured troops into the area. They stationed foreign legionnaires at big farms to protect farmers and deny supplies to the Fellagahs.

The Fellagah leader is identified as Sassi Lassoued. This name might indicate he is Sudanese, but the French say he is Tunisian. His name was signed to notes pinned to bodies of recent terror victims, warning of assassination to come for certain Tunisian government figures.

Fear Pattern of Terror

To add fuel to a dangerous fire, French farmers of southern and western Tunisia are talking about organizing vigilantes to fight the Fellagahs. That could build into a pattern of terror and counter-terror such as has tormented Britain's Kenya colony for several years. But in Tunisia the native force is armed with machineguns, automatic weapons and small arms.

Meanwhile Nationalists are becoming more and more impatient with French promises and French unwillingness to accord anything more than token autonomy. The French are caught between two fires.

French colonists are angry at the attempts of Pierre Voizard, the resident general, to pacify Tunisians with "reforms." Many Tunisians are bitter too. They say the reforms are no reforms at all. The assembly of 42 elected Tunisians and 42 elected Frenchmen has no real power. There is a council of ministers, eight Tunisians and four French, but the French retain overall control.

Ignorant on Democracy

Only about 10,000 Tunisians among a population of 3½ million have any conception of what the west is talking about when it speaks of Democracy. Moderate Tunisians have wanted French help in a gradual transition to independence.

Not long ago, many Nationalists would have been shocked at the idea of complete French withdrawal. But as tempers rise, there are fewer moderates. Many Tunisians now want full independence at once, rejecting any idea of co-sovereignty with France. Propaganda is pouring in on them from several directions, capitalizing on the rising feeling.

Lee Schirmer Is Given Third Prize In Annual Contest

Lee Schirmer, 15, of Oliverea, a student at Onteora Central High School, was awarded a $20 third place prize for his poster, Help Your Safety Patrol, during the presentation of awards in the 10th annual American Automobile Association's contest Friday in New York.

Schirmer received his award from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the governor's suite at the Hotel Roosevelt, Madison avenue at 45th street.

A member of the art class at Onteora Central High School, Schirmer was taught by Mrs. Milton Wagenfohr of Woodstock, who has been a member of the school's faculty for two years.

Mrs. Wagenfohr, wife of Milton Wagenfohr, The Freeman photographer, was graduated from Pratt Institute in New York.

Taught in New York

Following graduation from Pratt, Mrs. Wagenfohr taught in various New York schools for 22 years, including her post as acting department head at Prospect Heights High School in Brooklyn. She also taught at Utrecht High School in Bay Ridge.

First place winner in this year's AAA safety contest was Miss Barbara Bomar, 16-year-old student at Newton High School, Elmhurst, who won high honors in the contest for the second straight year.

Miss Bomar, who lives in Jackson Heights, won a first prize of $75 for her poster, School's Open, Drive Carefully. She also won a third place prize in another category for her poster, Be Extra Alert on Rainy Days.

Other winners were Louise Horafios, 14, student at Our Saviour's School, Manhattan; Carol Evers, 16, Northport, L. I.; Doris Hecht, 15, Brooklyn; Sara Weeks, 13, Snedens Landing, Palisades, N. J.; Damon Romanselli, 13, Bronx; Jeanne M. Breese, 11, New Rochelle; Edward Anderson, 14, New York city and Arthur Miller, 14, East Northport.

When it comes to Protection ..it pays to have the BEST

Life rafts can be very handy at times—but there's no chance to get another if the one you have fails to float.

Dependable insurance is like that, too. It's one thing you can't get when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to buy better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST—and buy it today.

TRAGIC STORY

Few more tragic stories have been told in recent years than that of ex-Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey who died recently. A few days after his death a letter written by Hoffman was released in which he confessed to the embezzlement of $300,000 over a period of years to finance his political campaigns and to meet blackmail threats.

The letter tells how the former governor first stole money from a bank in which he was interested. As years passed he went deeper and deeper into debt; one individual he turned to for help proved to be a blackmailer and it became more necessary than ever for him to have money.

The story should serve as a lesson to all men who are tempted to small dishonesties in the hope that they will be able to make amends later. One crime seems to lead to another until a man gets so tangled in the snarl of crookedness that it is impossible for him to get free.

It must not be believed that this man escaped punishment, even though he died before his crimes were exposed. Imagine the sleepless nights, the terror that someone would stumble on his secret or that some accident would tumble him from the security of his high offices—a security which he alone knew to be unreal.

Sophisticates may look on the adage "Honesty is the best policy" as a cliche. Actually it is an eternal truth and no one knows it better than those who, like the former governor, have tested it to their sorrow.

TEACHING FAITH

A wise parent never misses a chance to instill and fortify faith in the hearts of his children.

An explanation of how flowers grow in the garden can be a sermon in simple words. A parent-child discussion of the mysteries of the stars can do much to shape a youngster's thinking about spiritual things. The miracle that is a playful puppy can be used to explain to children something of how the Creator works and how truly marvelous are His ways.

Naturally the church and the Sunday school play an important role in the development of a child's faith. But parents can do a great deal, too. Their example and their words can show their children the way to go. What does it matter if parents are not always trained as teachers? The disciples of Christ, who brought the message of love taught by their Master to all parts of the world, were humble men who based their lessons on the simple things around them. All of the world and all of the good things in it are eloquent lessons on faith—they only need to be pointed out.

WAR TROPHIES

A recent article in the New York Times describes a list of trophies of war and objects of art connected with wars, collected through the years by the United States Army.

The collection includes such objects as General Grant's camp wagon, Field Marshal Goering's baton, paintings of the Mexican war and water-color paintings by Adolph Hitler. There are more than 10,000 items in the collection.

Some historians and government officials hope that in time an Army museum will be established where these items can be exhibited and preserved. As time passes they will grow in value and interest. It might be well for Congress to give consideration to some plan for establishing such a museum.

UNUSUAL ARGUMENT

A Greenville, South Carolina, widow is insisting on her right to free speech in an argument she is currently conducting with a neighborhood dog.

The dog has a habit of barking at the moon and at imaginary intruders at all hours of the night. In self defense the widow has equipped herself with a megaphone, through which she bellows back at the dog. It is not surprising that the neighbors find her replies almost as disturbing as the dog's barking. She will not be silenced, however, until someone does something to keep her opponent quiet.

Tie baseball games which go into extra innings are either an unexpected bargain or a complete waste of time — depending, of course, on who wins.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE NOISE ABOUT CONFORMITY

Some time ago my good friend, Carl W. Ackerman, Dean of the Faculty of Journalism of Columbia University, said:

"Today the vast majority of teachers in all fields of instruction have learned that promotion and security depend upon conformity to the prevailing community or national concept of devotion 'to the public welfare' . . ."

Why should teachers feel that they are forced to conform? And what are they being forced to conform to? Is any man required to conform to a particular religious group to teach in our public schools? Is anyone required to belong to a political party? Must he accept a particular philosophy of life?

As one analyzes the problem, the only position that involves a teacher or anyone else in difficulties at the present time is membership in the Communist Party or support for the Communist Party or in favor of espionage or defense of those who engage in espionage.

What has that to do with conformity? This country is in peril of war with the Soviet Universal State and is struggling against this particular power not only in the United States but in every country in which we have an interest. Therefore there is an inevitable deep concern over the extent of the infiltration of subversion and espionage in this country. Any other course would be suicidal.

On the other hand, no Communist publication has been suppressed. The "Daily Worker" is published every day. A number of monthly magazines are issued by this Party. Certainly these publications do not conform to a pattern. Books are published on all sides of these questions.

Dean Ackerman also made this point:

"Before or after graduation a student must look for a job. He knows all employers now 'investigate' before hiring. He knows that an 'A' record is no longer a sufficient recommendation, neither is a degree. Employers ask searching questions, not about ability, resourcefulnes, reliability, industry and integrity, as in the past, but also about the political and social attitudes of the applicant. . . ."

I have lived nearly as long as Dean Ackerman and I cannot recall when his description was not true. Men used to be hired on what was called 'character.' Perhaps that is a neolithic term, but by it was meant "a good name," "a good reputation." Receiving the mark of "A" does not even imply that a person has a good character. It may mean that he has a photographic memory.

Naturally, one investigates his staff. I recall when it used to be customary to ask for a letter from a priest or pastor or rabbi. I know employers, particularly of secretarial help, who want something like that. My office is at home and I would not employ anyone, even with a Phi Betta Kappa key, whom I would not care to introduce to my wife and children. An "A" would not prove that I could do that. An employer who has a defense contract does not want to employ anyone who would get him or his firm into trouble. Quite apart from patriotism, it is a nuisance to have to go through investigations and explanations. It is more practical to have a check made in advance.

Dean Ackerman objects to various departments of government checking on persons. I have been investigated by experts, probably since the day I was born. Every once in a while, I hear about something like that. So far as I am concerned, it gives me no bother. Nearly every year, the Internal Revenue Bureau goes over my private affairs with a fine comb to discover what I receive and spend and pay to the Government. That is as much a check on me currently as some agency of government asking me wether I knew Emma Goldman or Leon Trotzky or Mai Tze-tung.

As a matter of fact, I sometimes envy those geniuses who manage to get paid in cash and do not have to write down every item of earnings and expenditure. It is even becoming diffiult to sin with all the scrutiny that is going on. But there it is and we take it in our stride and if a fellow's nose is fairly clean, he survives even a field check. Nobody who has no record to hide need worry about his "character." As a matter of fact, a little investigating even helps to confound his enemies.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SHINGLES TREATED WITH CORTISONE

A patient consulted his physician and asked him what was the cause of what seemed to be a number of small inflamed pimples. The physician replied that it was very likely herpes zoster which can last a number of weeks with itching and sometimes very severe pain, usually following the course of a nerve on one side of the body. Some of these cases persist for years, particularly in the elderly, the pimples or blisters clearing up but the pain recurring. Other cases may run a regular course of four to six weeks, so do many children's diseases, and then clear up completely.

Since the demonstration in 1949 of the dramatic effects of cortisone in the treatment of heumatoid arthritis, both this drug and ACTH have been tried in a variety of other diseases and they are continually being employed by research physicians, one of the latest being in herpes zoster.

Five patients, four women and one man, ranging in ages from 32 to 72 years, with severe herpes zoster, were given cortisone by mouth. They were given 200 mg. the first day in four divided doses, followed by 100 mg. daily for seven days. Thereafter the dose was reduced to 25 mg. twice a day for four days.

What was the effect of this treatment of shingles by cortisone? Dramatic relief of pain occurred in four of the five cases treated. The skin eruption did not progress in any of the patients nor was there any evidence of a secondary or further infection, healing occurring within one to three weeks. All patients felt so well they were able to go on with their usual work.

Although this is but a small group, such favorable results are of real significance. None of the patients had any side effects from the cortisone. Shingles in elderly patients is particularly stubborn and often refuses to respond to any form of treatment and in this particular group the majority were between 50 and 70 and yet had very good results.

Cortisone has already been found to be of value in the treatment of typhoid, ulcerative colitis, bacterial pneumonia, severe peritonitis, mumps, trichinosis (from eating underdone pork), and Rocky Mountain spotted fever. Now it appears to have also been of benefit in the severe pain and complications of herpes zoster, particularly in the elderly who have been so difficult to help and yet have suffered so severely.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Regardless of how the Atomic Energy Commission decides the security clearance of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, it is now considered unlikely that his contract as a $100-a-day consultant will be renewed when it expires on June 30.

In 1953 Dr. Oppenheimer worked only two and a half days for AEC. The move to ease him out of the government's atomic picture has been on for some time, whether his security clearance is restored or not.

Most people who have formed an opinion on the Oppenheimer matter have based it on the summary recommendations of the two-to-one findings of the special investigating board headed by Gordon Gray, president of University of North Carolina and former Secretary of War. Many have found the substance of this report highly inconsistent.

That a man can display "a high degree of discretion reflecting an unusual ability to keep to himself vital secrets," and still bring forth a recommendation he was not a good security risk, has not made sense.

If more people had read the 100,000 words of testimony in the hearings, now made public, or even the mere 20,000 words of the Gray report, there might be more understanding.

They make an exhaustive study of 24 charges of past associations with Communists and Communist causes. The Gray board found 16 of these charges true or substantially true.

One side observation here is almost inescapable. If these same charges and findings were made against any other individual, he would be fired outright.

The factor that makes the Oppenheimer case different is that he is one of the greatest scientists in the world today. He was in charge of developing the first atomic bombs at Los Alamos, N. M., in World War II.

It may be that today there are other scientists who are just as good. Dr. Oppenheimer left full-time employment as an A-bomb builder two months after the war was over. He remained as a consultant, for which he has been paid a mere $11,500 in the last seven years.

He was dropped as chairman of AEC's general advisory committee at the end of 1952. It was Dr. Edward Teller and another group of scientists who developed the hydrogen bomb.

The full hearings and the brief filed in rebuttal to the Gray report by Dr. Oppenheimer's attorneys, John W. Davis and Lloyd K. Garrison, throw new light on his early opposition to the H-bomb development.

Research on this project was begun under Dr. Oppenheimer at Los Alamos during the war. This research was not stopped after the war, but it was not pushed.

The reason was that early thinking envisaged the H-bomb as a tremendously complicated affair. It would have been costly not only as to money but as to the amount of still more precious plutonium—the stuff A-bombs are are made of—required to trigger the H-bomb. Also, nobody knew whether it would work or not.

This was the thing that Dr. Oppenheimer admittedly opposed, from the fall of 1949 when the Russians exploded their first bomb, until the spring of 1951. It was then that Dr. Teller came forward with his new design for the H-bomb.

Dr. Teller testified that "Dr. Oppenheimer warmly supported this new approach, and I understand he made a statement that if anything of this kind had been suggested right away, he would never have opposed it."

Dr. Oppenheimer himself testified, "The program we had in 1949 was a tortured thing . . . that did not make a great deal of technical sense. . . . The program in 1951 was technically so sweet that you could not argue about that."

Nearly every scientist who has gone on record in this case has rallied to the support of Dr. Oppenheimer. Dr. Teller is a notable exception. He believed Dr. Oppenheimer loyal. But in the limited sense of not understanding some of his "confused and complicated actions . . . I would feel more secure if public matters would rest in other hands."

This is perhaps understandable in the light of Dr. Oppenheimer's own disclosures to security officers in 1943, when he was first being cleared, that he belonged to "just about" every Communist front organization on the west coast and had signed many of the petitions in which they were interested.

The great question is how a man with such a mind could have been so naive.

This affiliation began in 1936, tapered off in 1939, with little interest after 1942 and a definite rejection of the Communist philosophy after 1946. The great question is how a man with such a mind could have been so naive.

Will Restrict Highways

New York, June 22 (AP)—The New York State Civil Defense Commission says it will continue its plan to restrict the use of highways to essential and military vehicles in the event of atomic or hydrogen bomb attack. The commission reiterated its "basic policy" yesterday in response to reports that the Federal Civil Defense Administration planned to abandon the restricted highway idea because of the H-bomb. The federal agency was reported to feel that hydrogen bombing attacking would require free mass exodus of civilians from "target cities."

Blanket Condemnations of Scientists Viewed as Harmful to Welfare of Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 22—Generalizations are often harmful, and nothing could be more detrimental to the interests of the United States than any blanket condemnation of scientists because of the peculiar behavior of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who was declared a "security risk" by a special board appointed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Publication of the official transcript of the hearings of this board reveals some very interesting comments on the subject of scientists where loyalty or security matters are involved. Thus John Lansdale, Jr., now a member of a Cleveland law firm but during the war a colonel in the army, who was the top security officer for the atomic-bomb project, was being interrogated under oath on April 16 last, as follows:

"Q. Mr. Garrison (counsel for Dr. Oppenheimer) asked you some questions about the scientific mind in relation to that interview that you had with Dr. Oppenheimer (1943) and you responded, I think, that Dr. Oppenheimer's attitude might well have been a manifestation of the workings of a scientific mind, is that correct?

"A. Oh, yes; of which I came up against many examples.

"Q. Dr. Oppenheimer has testified here before this board that he lied to you in that interview. You would not say that lying was one of the manifestations of the scientific mind, would you?

"A. Not necessarily, no.

"Q. It is not a characteristic—

"A. It was certainly a characteristic to decide that I didn't need to have certain information.

"Q. No. But the question is, Mr. Lansdale, you would not say that scientists as a group are liars, would you?

"A. No. I don't think persons as a group are liars.

"Q. No.

"A. I certainly can't overemphasize, however, the extremely frustrating, almost maddening, let me say, tendency of our more brilliant people to extend in their own mind their competence and independence of decision in fields in which they have no competence.

"Q. You were undertaking at the time you interviewed Dr. Oppenheimer to investigate what you believed to be a very serious attempt at espionage, is that right?

"A. Yes. . .

"Q. And Dr. Oppenheimer's refusal to give you the information that you asked for was frustrating to you?

"A. Oh, certainly.

"Q. You felt that it seriously impeded your investigation, didn't you?

"A. Certainly. But he wasn't the first one that impeded my investigation, nor the last."

Mr. Lansdale went on to say that he felt that, to the extent of his knowledge, Dr. Oppenheimer is loyal but added that, on the matter of "security clearance," had he been confined to the bare record he would not have granted it. He said:

"In other words, if Dr. Oppenheimer had not been as important as he was, I would certainly have stopped with the record and used my every endeavor to persuade the general (Groves) that Dr. Oppenheimer ought to be dispensed with."

This is probably as good an example as any of the difficulty that the security officers had with some of the scientists at the laboratory where during the last war the atomic bomb was being developed.

The special board which recently heard the testimony on Dr. Oppenheimer and which was headed by Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina and formerly secretary of the army in the last administration, had this comment to make on scientists with particular reference to some who testified in behalf of Dr. Oppenheimer. The special board in its final report declared:

". . . The board has been impressed, and in many ways heartened by the manner in which many scientists have sprung to the defense of one whom many felt was under unfair attack. This is important and encouraging when one is concerned with the vitality of our society. However, the board feels constrained to express its concern that in this solidarity there have been attitudes so uncompromising in support of science in general, and Dr. Oppenheimer in particular, that some witnesses have, in our judgment, allowed their convictions to supersede what might reasonably have been their recollections."

What undoubtedly is referred to here is a conspicuous instance in which a scientist flatly contradicted the testimony of two other witnesses, but the record chose not to specify publicly which ones were meant. While scientists as a body cannot be condemned, some of their number didn't show up so well in the hearings as believing in whole-hearted cooperation with their government except as they themselves interpreted the obligation.

New Military Look If We Send Forces to Indo-China

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — When and if the decision is made to send U. S. forces to Indo-China to help stem the onrush of Communist forces, this might be the new military look:

1. Atomic bombs used as conventional weapons, fully integrated with all tactical operations, plus employment of guided missiles now rated "operational."

2. Determination by military leaders that it will not be another Korea—neither in the nature of the fighting, nor in the outcome. It will not be an 'ice cream and turkey war." And it must be decisive.

There is considerable opinion at the Pentagon that intervention in Indo-China would be unwise. As a general puts it:

"Gen Bradley called Korea the wrong war at the wrong time. Indo-China could turn out to be the worst war at the worst time."

However, all Pentagon planners agree that if Congress and the White House decide to enter that struggle, it must be an all-out effort aimed at a clear-cut victory.

Both Army and Air Force experts also say that it would be folly not to use atomic weapons, around which the whole American military "new look" is being built.

For instance, the new look as applied to Indo-China would be tactical maneuvering aimed at trying to force enemy troops into making mass attacks, which would make them excellent atomic targets.

This would require skill but they believe it could be done successfully.

An air force expert says:

"For instance, a few of the French forces might have been scorched a little by an atomic bomb attack on the Commie forces at Dien Bien Phu but it would have broken the siege and been one of the cheapest military victories in history."

Military commanders no longer think in terms of using one or two atomic bombs. Now they can plan to use a dozen A-bombs for an important objective. Since the start of Korea a tremendous amount of atomic weapon material has been stockpiled. And improvements in packaging A-weapons have increased their efficiency many times.

Atomic bombs as warheads in the army's newly-operational WAC Corporal and Honest John missiles, for instance, would greatly simplify a commander's logistical proglems. They would give him fire power equivalent to a conventional artillery barrage which would require thousands of men, tons of shells and many heavy guns.

The logistical factor also argues for the use of atomic bombs by the air force. There are arguments that A-bombs could be cheaper to use in certain tactical situations than napalm—jellied gasoline. As one expert explains it:

"It takes hundreds of planes flying from many fields protected by thousands of troops to spread napalm on the enemy. And you're not sure of how many of the enemy you burn up. Not too many atomic bombs could do the same job at a lower net cost, with care exercised in target selection."

If the U. S. airpower alone is committed to Indochina, it's the opinion of many experts that jet B-47 bombers, refueled in flight, operating out of the Philippines and dropping atomic bombs would be the action, along with Navy planes striking from carriers.

Having learned from Korea about the limits of air support alone, Air Force experts are hesitant to speculate on what good it could do without U. S. troops in Indochina. There is some talk that hydrogen bombs alone could make a major difference in Indochina, however.

Most of the Pentagon experts doubt that if the U. S. began using tactical A-bombs in Indochina that the Communists would retaliate with theirs.

"The Communists are about as far along with stockpiling atomic weapons as we were at the start of Korea and aren't likely to accept Indochina as the place for an atomic show-down," says one.

Another lesson learned in Korea is explained by a general:

"We bogged ourselves down there providing the men turkey and ice cream three times a week. People think that's the way you fight all wars. But it wouldn't be that way in Indochina. It would be a tough, nasty uncomfortable war there with none of the comforts of home, believe me."

He points out that fighting in Indochina could not be supplied from such a conveniently protected base as Japan provided for Korea.

TRAGIC STORY

Few more tragic stories have been told in recent years than that of ex-Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey who died recently. A few days after his death a letter written by Hoffman was released in which he confessed to the embezzlement of $300,000 over a period of years to finance his political campaigns and to meet blackmail threats.

The letter tells how the former governor first stole money from a bank in which he was interested. As years passed he went deeper and deeper into debt; one individual he turned to for help proved to be a blackmailer and it became more necessary than ever for him to have money.

The story should serve as a lesson to all men who are tempted to small dishonesties in the hope that they will be able to make amends later. One crime seems to lead to another until a man gets so tangled in the snarl of crookedness that it is impossible for him to get free.

It must not be believed that this man escaped punishment, even though he died before his crimes were exposed. Imagine the sleepless nights, the terror that someone would stumble on his secret or that some accident would tumble him from the security of his high offices—a security which he alone knew to be unreal.

Sophisticates may look on the adage "Honesty is the best policy" as a cliche. Actually it is an eternal truth and no one knows it better than those who, like the former governor, have tested it to their sorrow.

TEACHING FAITH

A wise parent never misses a chance to instill and fortify faith in the hearts of his children.

An explanation of how flowers grow in the garden can be a sermon in simple words. A parent-child discussion of the mysteries of the stars can do much to shape a youngster's thinking about spiritual things. The miracle that is a playful puppy can be used to explain to children something of how the Creator works and how truly marvelous are His ways.

Naturally the church and the Sunday school play an important role in the development of a child's faith. But parents can do a great deal, too. Their example and their words can show their children the way to go. What does it matter if parents are not always trained as teachers? The disciples of Christ, who brought the message of love taught by their Master to all parts of the world, were humble men who based their lessons on the simple things around them. All of the world and all of the good things in it are eloquent lessons on faith—they only need to be pointed out.

WAR TROPHIES

A recent article in the New York Times describes a list of trophies of war and objects of art connected with wars, collected through the years by the United States Army.

The collection includes such objects as General Grant's camp wagon, Field Marshal Goering's baton, paintings of the Mexican war and water-color paintings by Adolph Hitler. There are more than 10,000 items in the collection.

Some historians and government officials hope that in time an Army museum will be established where these items can be exhibited and preserved. As time passes they will grow in value and interest. It might be well for Congress to give consideration to some plan for establishing such a museum.

UNUSUAL ARGUMENT

A Greenville, South Carolina, widow is insisting on her right to free speech in an argument she is currently conducting with a neighborhood dog.

The dog has a habit of barking at the moon and at imaginary intruders at all hours of the night. In self defense the widow has equipped herself with a megaphone, through which she bellows back at the dog. It is not surprising that the neighbors find her replies almost as disturbing as the dog's barking. She will not be silenced, however, until someone does something to keep her opponent quiet.

Tie baseball games which go into extra innings are either an unexpected bargain or a complete waste of time — depending, of course, on who wins.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE NOISE ABOUT CONFORMITY

Some time ago my good friend, Carl W. Ackerman, Dean of the Faculty of Journalism of Columbia University, said:

"Today the vast majority of teachers in all fields of instruction have learned that promotion and security depend upon conformity to the prevailing community or national concept of devotion 'to the public welfare' . . ."

Why should teachers feel that they are forced to conform? And what are they being forced to conform to? Is any man required to conform to a particular religious group to teach in our public schools? Is anyone required to belong to a political party? Must he accept a particular philosophy of life?

As one analyzes the problem, the only position that involves a teacher or anyone else in difficulties at the present time is membership in the Communist Party or support for the Communist Party or in favor of espionage or defense of those who engage in espionage.

What has that to do with conformity? This country is in peril of war with the Soviet Universal State and is struggling against this particular power not only in the United States but in every country in which we have an interest. Therefore there is an inevitable deep concern over the extent of the infiltration of subversion and espionage in this country. Any other course would be suicidal.

On the other hand, no Communist publication has been suppressed. The "Daily Worker" is published every day. A number of monthly magazines are issued by this Party. Certainly these publications do not conform to a pattern. Books are published on all sides of these questions.

Dean Ackerman also made this point:

"Before or after graduation a student must look for a job. He knows all employers now 'investigate' before hiring. He knows that an 'A' record is no longer a sufficient recommendation, neither is a degree. Employers ask searching questions, not about ability, resourcefulnes, reliability, industry and integrity, as in the past, but also about the political and social attitudes of the applicant. . . ."

I have lived nearly as long as Dean Ackerman and I cannot recall when his description was not true. Men used to be hired on what was called "character." Perhaps that is a neolithic term, but by it was meant "a good name," "a good reputation." Receiving the mark of "A" does not even imply that a person has a good character. It may mean that he has a photographic memory.

Naturally, one investigates his staff. I recall when it used to be customary to ask for a letter from a priest or pastor or rabbi. I know employers, particularly of secretarial help, who want something like that. My office is at home and I would not employ anyone, even with a Phi Betta Kappa key, whom I would not care to introduce to my wife and children. An "A" would not prove that I could do that. An employer who has a defense contract does not want to employ anyone who would get him or his firm into trouble. Quite apart from patriotism, it is a nuisance to have to go through investigations and explanations. It is more practical to have a check made in advance.

Dean Ackerman objects to various departments of government checking on persons. I have been investigated by experts, probably since the day I was born. Every once in a while, I hear about something like that. So far as I am concerned, it gives me no bother. Nearly every year, the Internal Revenue Bureau goes over my private affairs with a fine comb to discover what I receive and spend and pay to the Government. That is as much a check on me currently as some agency of government asking me wether I knew Emma Goldman or Leon Trotzky or Mai Tze-tung.

As a matter of fact, I sometimes envy those geniuses who manage to get paid in cash and do not have to write down every item of earnings and expenditure. It is even becoming diffiult to sin with all the scrutiny that is going on. But there it is and we take it in our stride and if a fellow's nose is fairly clean, he survives even a field check. Nobody who has no record to hide need worry about his "character." As a matter of fact, a little investigating even helps to confound his enemies.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SHINGLES TREATED WITH CORTISONE

A patient consulted his physician and asked him what was the cause of what seemed to be a number of small inflamed pimples. The physician replied that it was very likely herpes zoster which can last a number of weeks with itching and sometimes very severe pain, usually following the course of a nerve on one side of the body. Some of these cases persist for years, particularly in the elderly, the pimples or blisters clearing up but the pain recurring. Other cases may run a regular course of four to six weeks, so do many children's diseases, and then clear up completely.

Since the demonstration in 1949 of the dramatic effects of cortisone in the treatment of heumatoid arthritis, both this drug and ACTH have been tried in a variety of other diseases and they are continually being employed by research physicians, one of the latest being in herpes zoster.

Five patients, four women and one man, ranging in ages from 32 to 72 years, with severe herpes zoster, were given cortisone by mouth. They were given 200 mg. the first day in four divided doses, followed by 100 mg. daily for seven days. Thereafter the dose was reduced to 25 mg. twice a day for four days.

What was the effect of this treatment of shingles by cortisone? Dramatic relief of pain occurred in four of the five cases treated. The skin eruption did not progress in any of the patients nor was there any evidence of a secondary or further infection, healing occurring within one to three weeks. All patients felt so well they were able to go on with their usual work.

Although this is but a small group, such favorable results are of real significance. None of the patients had any side effects from the cortisone. Shingles in elderly patients is particularly stubborn and often refuses to respond to any form of treatment and in this particular group the majority were between 50 and 70 and yet had very good results.

Cortisone has already been found to be of value in the treatment of typhoid, ulcerative colitis, bacterial pneumonia, severe peritonitis, mumps, trichinosis (from eating underdone pork), and Rocky Mountain spotted fever. Now it appears to have also been of benefit in the severe pain and complications of herpes zoster, particularly in the elderly who have been so difficult to help and yet have suffered so severely.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Regardless of how the Atomic Energy Commission decides the security clearance of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, it is now considered unlikely that his contract as a $100-a-day consultant will be renewed when it expires on June 30.

In 1953 Dr. Oppenheimer worked only two and a half days for AEC. The move to ease him out of the government's atomic picture has been on for some time, whether his security clearance is restored or not.

Most people who have formed an opinion on the Oppenheimer matter have based it on the summary recommendations of the two-to-one findings of the special investigating board headed by Gordon Gray, president of University of North Carolina and former Secretary of War. Many have found the substance of this report highly inconsistent.

That a man can display "a high degree of discretion reflecting an unusual ability to keep to himself vital secrets," and still bring forth a recommendation he was not a good security risk, has not made sense.

If more people had read the 100,000 words of testimony in the hearings, now made public, or even the mere 20,000 words of the Gray report, there might be more understanding.

They make an exhaustive study of 24 charges of past associations with Communists and Communist causes. The Gray board found 16 of these charges true or substantially true.

One side observation here is almost inescapable. If these same charges and findings were made against any other individual, he would be fired outright.

The factor that makes the Oppenheimer case different is that he is one of the greatest scientists in the world today. He was in charge of developing the first atomic bombs at Los Alamos, N. M., in World War II.

It may be that today there are other scientists who are just as good. Dr. Oppenheimer left full-time employment as an A-bomb builder two months after the war was over. He remained as a consultant, for which he has been paid a mere $11,500 in the last seven years.

He was dropped as chairman of AEC's general advisory committee at the end of 1952. It was Dr. Edward Teller and another group of scientists who developed the hydrogen bomb.

The full hearings and the brief filed in rebuttal to the Gray report by Dr. Oppenheimer's attorneys, John W. Davis and Lloyd K. Garrison, throw new light on his early opposition to the H-bomb development.

Research on this project was begun under Dr. Oppenheimer at Los Alamos during the war. This research was not stopped after the war, but it was not pushed.

The reason was that early thinking envisaged the H-bomb as a tremendously complicated affair. It would have been costly not only as to money but as to the amount of still more precious plutonium—the stuff A-bombs are are made of—required to trigger the H-bomb. Also, nobody knew whether it would work or not.

This was the thing that Dr. Oppenheimer admittedly opposed, from the fall of 1949 when the Russians exploded their first bomb, until the spring of 1951. It was then that Dr. Teller came forward with his new design for the H-bomb.

Dr. Teller testified that "Dr. Oppenheimer warmly supported this new approach, and I understand he made a statement that if anything of this kind had been suggested right away, he would never have opposed it."

Dr. Oppenheimer himself testified, "The program we had in 1949 was a tortured thing . . . that did not make a great deal of technical sense. . . . The program in 1951 was technically so sweet that you could not argue about that."

Nearly every scientist who has gone on record in this case has rallied to the support of Dr. Oppenheimer. Dr. Teller is a notable exception. He believed Dr. Oppenheimer loyal. But in the limited sense of not understanding some of his "confused and complicated actions . . . I would feel more secure if public matters would rest in other hands."

This is perhaps understandable in the light of Dr. Oppenheimer's own disclosures to security officers in 1943, when he was first being cleared, that he belonged to "just about" every Communist front organization on the west coast and had signed many of the petitions in which they were interested.

The great question is how a man with such a mind could have been so naive.

This affiliation began in 1936, tapered off in 1939, with little interest after 1942 and a definite rejection of the Communist philosophy after 1946. The great question is how a man with such a mind could have been so naive.

Will Restrict Highways

New York, June 22 (AP)—The New York State Civil Defense Commission says it will continue its plan to restrict the use of highways to essential and military vehicles in the event of atomic or hydrogen bomb attack. The commission reiterated its "basic policy" yesterday in response to reports that the Federal Civil Defense Administration planned to abandon the restricted highway idea because of the H-bomb. The federal agency was reported to feel that hydrogen bombing attacking would require free mass exodus of civilians from "target cities."

Blanket Condemnations of Scientists Viewed as Harmful to Welfare of Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 22—Generalizations are often harmful, and nothing could be more detrimental to the interests of the United States than any blanket condemnation of scientists because of the peculiar behavior of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who was declared a "security risk" by a special board appointed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Publication of the official transcript of the hearings of this board reveals some very interesting comments on the subject of scientists where loyalty or security matters are involved. Thus John Lansdale, Jr., now a member of a Cleveland law firm but during the war a colonel in the army, who was the top security officer for the atomic-bomb project, was being interrogated under oath on April 16 last, as follows:

"Q. Mr. Garrison (counsel for Dr. Oppenheimer) asked you some questions about the scientific mind in relation to that interview that you had with Dr. Oppenheimer (1943) and you responded, I think, that Dr. Oppenheimer's attitude might well have been a manifestation of the workings of a scientific mind, is that correct?

"A. Oh, yes; of which I came up against many examples.

"Q. Dr. Oppenheimer has testified here before this board that he lied to you in that interview. You would not say that lying was one of the manifestations of the scientific mind, would you?

"A. Not necessarily, no.

"Q. It is not a characteristic—

"A. It was certainly a characteristic to decide that I didn't need to have certain information.

"Q. No. But the question is, Mr. Lansdale, you would not say that scientists as a group are liars, would you?

"A. No. I don't think persons as a group are liars.

"Q. No.

"A. I certainly can't overemphasize, however, the extremely frustrating, almost maddening, let me say, tendency of our more brilliant people to extend in their own mind their competence and independence of decision in fields in which they have no competence.

"Q. You were undertaking at the time you interviewed Dr. Oppenheimer to investigate what you believed to be a very serious attempt at espionage, is that right?

"A. Yes. . .

"Q. And Dr. Oppenheimer's refusal to give you the information that you asked for was frustrating to you?

"A. Oh, certainly.

"Q. You felt that it seriously impeded your investigation, didn't you?

"A. Certainly. But he wasn't the first one that impeded my investigation, nor the last."

Mr. Lansdale went on to say that he felt that, to the extent of his knowledge, Dr. Oppenheimer is loyal but added that, on the matter of "security clearance," had he been confined to the bare record he would not have granted it. He said:

"In other words, if Dr. Oppenheimer had not been as important as he was, I would certainly have stopped with the record and used my every endeavor to persuade the general (Groves) that Dr. Oppenheimer ought to be dispensed with."

This is probably as good an example as any of the difficulty that the security officers had with some of the scientists at the laboratory where during the last war the atomic bomb was being developed.

The special board which recently heard the testimony on Dr. Oppenheimer and which was headed by Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina and formerly secretary of the army in the last administration, had this comment to make on scientists with particular reference to some who testified in behalf of Dr. Oppenheimer. The special board in its final report declared:

". . . The board has been impressed, and in many ways heartened by the manner in which many scientists have sprung to the defense of one whom many felt was under unfair attack. This is important and encouraging when one is concerned with the vitality of our society. However, the board feels constrained to express its concern that in this solidarity there have been attitudes so uncompromising in support of science in general, and Dr. Oppenheimer in particular, that some witnesses have, in our judgment, allowed their convictions to supersede what might reasonably have been their recollections."

What undoubtedly is referred to here is a conspicuous instance in which a scientist flatly contradicted the testimony of two other witnesses, but the record chose not to specify publicly which ones were meant. While scientists as a body cannot be condemned, some of their number didn't show up so well in the hearings as believing in whole-hearted cooperation with their government except as they themselves interpreted the obligation.

New Military Look If We Send Forces to Indo-China

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — When and if the decision is made to send U. S. forces to Indo-China to help stem the onrush of Communist forces, this might be the new military look:

1. Atomic bombs used as conventional weapons, fully integrated with all tactical operations, plus employment of guided missiles now rated "operational."

2. Determination by military leaders that it will not be another Korea—neither in the nature of the fighting, nor in the outcome. It will not be an 'ice cream and turkey war." And it must be decisive.

There is considerable opinion at the Pentagon that intervention in Indo-China would be unwise. As a general puts it:

"Gen Bradley called Korea the wrong war at the wrong time. Indo-China could turn out to be the worst war at the worst time."

However, all Pentagon planners agree that if Congress and the White House decide to enter that struggle, it must be an all-out effort aimed at a clear-cut victory.

Both Army and Air Force experts also say that it would be folly not to use atomic weapons, around which the whole American military "new look" is being built.

For instance, the new look as applied to Indo-China would be tactical maneuvering aimed at trying to force enemy troops into making mass attacks, which would make them excellent atomic targets.

This would require skill but they believe it could be done successfully.

An air force expert says:

"For instance, a few of the French forces might have been scorched a little by an atomic bomb attack on the Commie forces at Dien Bien Phu but it would have broken the siege and been one of the cheapest military victories in history."

Military commanders no longer think in terms of using one or two atomic bombs. Now they can plan to use a dozen A-bombs for an important objective. Since the start of Korea a tremendous amount of atomic weapon material has been stockpiled. And improvements in packaging A-weapons have increased their efficiency many times.

Atomic bombs as warheads in the army's newly-operational WAC Corporal and Honest John missiles, for instance, would greatly simplify a commander's logistical proglems. They would give him fire power equivalent to a conventional artillery barrage which would require thousands of men, tons of shells and many heavy guns.

The logistical factor also argues for the use of atomic bombs by the air force. There are arguments that A-bombs could be cheaper to use in certain tactical situations than napalm—jellied gasoline. As one expert explains it:

"It takes hundreds of planes flying from many fields protected by thousands of troops to spread napalm on the enemy. And you're not sure of how many of the enemy you burn up. Not too many atomic bombs could do the same job at a lower net cost, with care exercised in target selection."

If the U. S. airpower alone is committed to Indochina, it's the opinion of many experts that jet B-47 bombers, refueled in flight, operating out of the Philippines and dropping atomic bombs would be the action, along with Navy planes striking from carriers.

Having learned from Korea about the limits of air support alone, Air Force experts are hesitant to speculate on what good it could do without U. S. troops in Indochina. There is some talk that hydrogen bombs alone could make a major difference in Indochina, however.

Most of the Pentagon experts doubt that if the U. S. began using tactical A-bombs in Indochina that the Communists would retaliate with theirs.

"The Communists are about as far along with stockpiling atomic weapons as we were at the start of Korea and aren't likely to accept Indochina as the place for an atomic show-down," says one.

Another lesson learned in Korea is explained by a general:

"We bogged ourselves down there providing the men turkey and ice cream three times a week. People think that's the way you fight all wars. But it wouldn't be that way in Indochina. It would be a tough, nasty uncomfortable war there with none of the comforts of home, believe me."

He points out that fighting in Indochina could not be supplied from such a conveniently protected base as Japan provided for Korea.

They Ask Forgiveness

Tokyo, June 22 (AP)—Pale blue incense rose toward the gilt ceiling. Low chanting spread through the dim temple, and a little silver bell tinkled behind the sanctuary. Kimono-clad women knelt on the white straw mats and bowed deeply and reverently before the great golden image of Buddha. They were the beauty parlor operators of Kyushu, asking forgiveness—for cutting off all that mountain of girls' hair in the Audrey Hepburn mania that has swept Japan.

Delayed Payment

St. Louis (AP)—When Patrolman Martin J. McDonough put a parking violation ticket on a car he found nine more parking tickets inside it. The owner paid 10 fines totaling $16 and towing charges of $6.68.

Somebody Write a Book

"Somebody ought to write a book." In spite of his solemn tone, there was a twinkle in the young man's eye. "A book about how not to help your friends who have TB."

It was six months since he had come home from the tuberculosis hospital, and he talked about his experience with good natured exaggeration.

There were the non-believers. "You can't have TB," they said. "Why, you're the picture of health." And when he explained about his X-rays, they said, "Buck up, boy—don't let them get you down."

Then there were the avoiders. They carefully never mentioned his illness, so that he felt almost as though he'd been caught stealing out of the cash drawer. When anything came up in the conversation that had to do with his treatment, they would pointedly change the subject.

On the other hand, he had some friends who were fascinated with his tuberculosis. They wouldn't talk about anything else, and asked him all kinds of depressing questions about his illness. They would say, "Of course, you'll always have to take it easy now," and firmly leave him out of any plans for the future, however distant.

And there were the hearty "We'll - have - you-out-of-here-in-no-time" types. Although he'd told them the doctor had said he must rest for at least a year, they would insist upon inviting him to parties not a month off. They wouldn't take no for an answer.

"I shouldn't be grumbling," he said. "I was lucky to have so many friends. Visiting days were the best, whoever came to see me. But I did sometimes wish people would find out more about TB before they came. And some could have cheered me up a good deal more if they had stopped to think how they would have felt in my place."

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street.

Opossum Creates Stir

New York, June 22 (AP)—An opossum invaded the Morrisania section of the Bronx early today, creating a stir. Several startled residents put in telephone calls to police and reported a "strange" and "ferocious" animal was stalking the streets. A police detail sped to the scene shortly after midnight and trapped the animal behind a stairway at 1235 Morris avenue. Aware that a 'possum fights viciously when cornered, the police got an animal crate from the ASPCA and "persuaded" the animal to enter.

Election Block Over

New York, June 22 (AP)—The New York Transit Authority has cleared the way for a union representation vote Friday by 37,000 hourly workers on subway, bus and elevated lines. Revocation Is Upheld

New York, June 22 (AP)—The State Racing Commission's revocation of the racing licenses of the wife and son of Abraham (Abe) Chait — described as a "gangster, racketeer and ex-convict"—has been upheld unanimously by the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court. Burton D. Chait and his mother, Mrs. Sara Chait, had appealed to the court after the commission revoked their licenses on the ground they were "fronting" for Abraham Chait. They contended the revocations were "arbitrary and capricious" and were based primarily on testimony before the New York State Crime Commission, which they said they did not have an opportunity to refute.

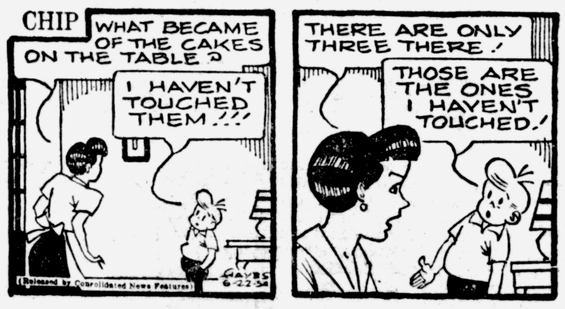
Opossum Creates Stir

New York, June 22 (AP)—An opossum invaded the Morrisania section of the Bronx early today, creating a stir. Several startled residents put in telephone calls to police and reported a "strange" and "ferocious" animal was stalking the streets. A police detail sped to the scene shortly after midnight and trapped the animal behind a stairway at 1235 Morris avenue. Aware that a 'possum fights viciously when cornered, the police got an animal crate from the ASPCA and "persuaded" the animal to enter.

Election Block Over

New York, June 22 (AP)—The New York Transit Authority has cleared the way for a union representation vote Friday by 37,000 hourly workers on subway, bus and elevated lines. Authority members decided yesterday to permit the election, which had been blocked by the same body last week when two members said they wanted to defer action to study legal angles involved.



Revocation Is Upheld

New York, June 22 (AP)—The State Racing Commission's revocation of the racing licenses of the wife and son of Abraham (Abe) Chait — described as a "gangster, racketeer and ex-convict"—has been upheld unanimously by the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court. Burton D. Chait and his mother, Mrs. Sara Chait, had appealed to the court after the commission revoked their licenses on the ground they were "fronting" for Abraham Chait. They contended the revocations were "arbitrary and capricious" and were based primarily on testimony before the New York State Crime Commission, which they said they did not have an opportunity to refute.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Any mention of boats always seems to bring response from the readers. After all we live right by the river and creek and although we do no have facilities to enjoy it any more we like to hear and talk about it. Folks have been asking me how did folks go up and down the river before Robert Fulton's Clermont made its first trip. It seems we had a regular service by sailing vessels to 1820. But the trip from Kingston to New York was a voyage of several days at best, depending of course upon the wind and tide, and was not wholly unattended with danger at times due to weather conditions. Usually the main part of the sloop was devoted to freight, but still there was always a cabin fitted with 10 or more berths for passengers. The crew used the forecastle for their cooking and lodging.

No doubt folks of today's bustle and hurry and rush would go out of their mind from such a trip for when they had adverse winds and no progress could be made, the vessel would anchor, and the passengers went ashore and had a good time. Companionship and good food played a big part on those sailing vessels. It was the custom to arrange congenial parties for these New York trips because of the time it took. The passengers could bring their own provisions, or board with the captain. Each had a big chest which was usually stocked with good cooked food, and there was always an apartment at one end with well filled flasks of Holland gin, a favorite warming beverage of those days. This sloop traffic finally grew into a weekly service by a regular packet line to New York. Soon after that, rival lines entered the field; one was owned by Abraham Hasbrouck and the other by William Swart, both well-known Ulster county names.

It is said the first steamboat to enter Rondout creeks seems to have been the New London, in 1826, and she came towing the hull of a vessel built for steam, to an anchorage. There had been then regular steamboat traffic on the river for some 15 years or more. The competition between rival lines began to bring down the fare, lessened the time to New York, and at length displaced the quite, tedious sloop passenger traffic entirely. The opening of the D & H Canal in 1829 brought still a new era to this river traffic. More sloops were added to the four already plying to New York from Kingston. The steamer Congress began to carry passengers and freight between Twaalfskill (Wilbur) and New York in 1829, and she was doubtless the first passenger steamboat on this route. The next was the Hudson in 1831, and soon after that came the famous old Norwich which had been kept afloat for a long time afterwards.

Much could be written about the Norwich which we knew as the Ice King of the Hudson when she belonged to the Cornell Towing Line. Years back she was known as the Palatial Passenger Steamer between Kingston and New York. The Norwich was built back in 1836 for passenger service between New York and Norwich, Conn. It is said, she was too small for the Sound service, so was sent here, and ran until she was known as the oldest steamboat in the world. In fact on her side-wheel was printed in large letters Oldest Steamboat in the World—Built 1836—Norwich. Perhaps folks remember it and have photos of it. I have one very good one of her. Folks around here loved that boat when they would see her in winter they call out, "Here comes the old Norwich, the Ice King."

Racing Decision Awaited

Concord, N. H., June 22 (AP)—Concord's City Council has delayed at least until July 12 its decision whether to license night harness racing with pari-mutuel betting. The decision came last night after a stormy public hearing. Residents and church leaders bucked the proposal, advanced by upstate New York and New Hampshire racing interests. Sponsors of the proposed track attended the meeting. They included M. William Bray, a Utica, N. Y., attorney and former New York lieutenant governor.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Any mention of boats always seems to bring response from the readers. After all we live right by the river and creek and although we do no have facilities to enjoy it any more we like to hear and talk about it. Folks have been asking me how did folks go up and down the river before Robert Fulton's Clermont made its first trip. It seems we had a regular service by sailing vessels to 1820. But the trip from Kingston to New York was a voyage of several days at best, depending of course upon the wind and tide, and was not wholly unattended with danger at times due to weather conditions. Usually the main part of the sloop was devoted to freight, but still there was always a cabin fitted with 10 or more berths for passengers. The crew used the forecastle for their cooking and lodging.

No doubt folks of today's bustle and hurry and rush would go out of their mind from such a trip for when they had adverse winds and no progress could be made, the vessel would anchor, and the passengers went ashore and had a good time. Companionship and good food played a big part on those sailing vessels. It was the custom to arrange congenial parties for these New York trips because of the time it took. The passengers could bring their own provisions, or board with the captain. Each had a big chest which was usually stocked with good cooked food, and there was always an apartment at one end with well filled flasks of Holland gin, a favorite warming beverage of those days. This sloop traffic finally grew into a weekly service by a regular packet line to New York. Soon after that, rival lines entered the field; one was owned by Abraham Hasbrouck and the other by William Swart, both well-known Ulster county names.

It is said the first steamboat to enter Rondout creeks seems to have been the New London, in 1826, and she came towing the hull of a vessel built for steam, to an anchorage. There had been then regular steamboat traffic on the river for some 15 years or more. The competition between rival lines began to bring down the fare, lessened the time to New York, and at length displaced the quite, tedious sloop passenger traffic entirely. The opening of the D & H Canal in 1829 brought still a new era to this river traffic. More sloops were added to the four already plying to New York from Kingston. The steamer Congress began to carry passengers and freight between Twaalfskill (Wilbur) and New York in 1829, and she was doubtless the first passenger steamboat on this route. The next was the Hudson in 1831, and soon after that came the famous old Norwich which had been kept afloat for a long time afterwards.

Much could be written about the Norwich which we knew as the Ice King of the Hudson when she belonged to the Cornell Towing Line. Years back she was known as the Palatial Passenger Steamer between Kingston and New York. The Norwich was built back in 1836 for passenger service between New York and Norwich, Conn. It is said, she was too small for the Sound service, so was sent here, and ran until she was known as the oldest steamboat in the world. In fact on her side-wheel was printed in large letters Oldest Steamboat in the World—Built 1836—Norwich. Perhaps folks remember it and have photos of it. I have one very good one of her. Folks around here loved that boat when they would see her in winter they call out, "Here comes the old Norwich, the Ice King."

As in the case of yesterday's hand, South is a trifle light for the opening bid of two no trump. This bid usually shows 22-24 points with balanced distribution and all four suits securely stopped. Today's hand is taken, however, from an English set of par hands. In England, the opening bid of two no-trump is made a little lighter than over here.

When the hand was played in the contest, West was required to open the jack of diamonds. Declarer naturally played low from the dummy, and East naturally played the king. South must drop the queen of diamonds in order to make sure of his contract!

South can later lead a low diamond to finesse dummy's nine. He takes a club finesse and enters dummy again with the ace of diamonds to repeat the club finesse. By this means, South can win all four club tricks to add to the two diamonds, the two spades and the ace of hearts in order to make his game contract.

South needs two entries to dummy in order to repeat the club finesse. If South fails to drop the queen of diamonds at the first trick, he cannot be sure of getting to dummy twice with diamonds.

What happens if South keeps the queen of diamonds and later leads a low diamond towards dummy? If West is alert to the situation, he will play the ten of diamonds and thus force dummy to win with the ace. Now South still has the queen of diamonds while dummy has the nine. South has the same number of diamond tricks, to be sure, but he can get to the dummy only once and can therefore take only one club finesse.

It isn't very hard for West to make this play, since he can be practically sure that East has played a singleton king of diamonds when he wins the first trick and then shifts to a different suit. With the diamond situation exposed, West can see that it costs him nothing to put up the ten.

Settlement Is Reached

Hackensack, N. J., June 22 (AP)—A New Rochelle, N. Y., woman has received an $85,000 out-of-court settlement for claims arising from the fatal injuries to her army officer husband in an autobus collision last Aug. 7. Mrs. Dorothy Kelly, widow of the late Lt. Col. James J. Kelly, received $80,000 yesterday from the N. J. and N. Y. Transit Co. and got $5,000 from the Sieberling Rubber Co. of Ohio. Kelly died a week after the East Rutherford accident in which his car was hit by the N.J. and N.Y. company bus. Investigation showed a tire on the bus, made by the Sieberling Company, had blown and thrown the bus out of control into Kelly's car. The bus also hit another auto driven by Franklin Clayton, East Orange fire captain. He and his two sons, Franklin Jr., and James, received $5,400 for their injuries.

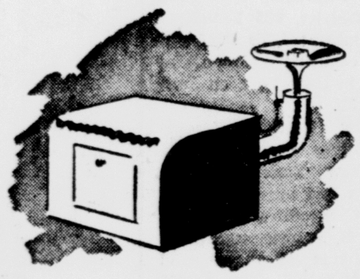
Some differences are easy to spot. Some aren't. Take house heating for example. To the average person one furnace looks pretty much like another. Actually, the real difference lies in the performance. And for efficient, quiet performance nothing compares with a Natural Gas fired furnace. All of the fuel burns (with no soot or smudge) and burns without rumble or roar — silently. A completely automatic Natural Gas fired furnace costs much less, lasts much longer than other type furnaces. Remember, all costs considered,. Natural Gas Heat compares favorably in price with any other fuel on the market.



Call Central Hudson for the full story on heating your house with Natural Gas. Whether you need a furnace or a conversion burner, you can't beat Gas House Heat!

BY OSWALD JACOBY

As in the case of yesterday's hand, South is a trifle light for the opening bid of two no trump. This bid usually shows 22-24 points with balanced distribution and all four suits securely stopped. Today's hand is taken, however, from an English set of par hands. In England, the opening bid of two no-trump is made a little lighter than over here.

When the hand was played in the contest, West was required to open the jack of diamonds. Declarer naturally played low from the dummy, and East naturally played the king. South must drop the queen of diamonds in order to make sure of his contract!

South can later lead a low diamond to finesse dummy's nine. He takes a club finesse and enters dummy again with the ace of diamonds to repeat the club finesse. By this means, South can win all four club tricks to add to the two diamonds, the two spades and the ace of hearts in order to make his game contract.

South needs two entries to dummy in order to repeat the club finesse. If South fails to drop the queen of diamonds at the first trick, he cannot be sure of getting to dummy twice with diamonds.

What happens if South keeps the queen of diamonds and later leads a low diamond towards dummy? If West is alert to the situation, he will play the ten of diamonds and thus force dummy to win with the ace. Now South still has the queen of diamonds while dummy has the nine. South has the same number of diamond tricks, to be sure, but he can get to the dummy only once and can therefore take only one club finesse.

It isn't very hard for West to make this play, since he can be practically sure that East has played a singleton king of diamonds when he wins the first trick and then shifts to a different suit. With the diamond situation exposed, West can see that it costs him nothing to put up the ten.

Settlement Is Reached

Hackensack, N. J., June 22 (AP) —A New Rochelle, N. Y., woman has received an $85,000 out-of-court settlement for claims arising from the fatal injuries to her army officer husband in an auto-bus collision last Aug. 7. Mrs. Dorothy Kelly, widow of the late Lt. Col. James J. Kelly, received $80,000 yesterday from the N. J. and N. Y. Transit Co. and got $5,000 from the Sieberling Rubber Co. of Ohio. Kelly died a week after the East Rutherford accident in which his car was hit by the N.J. and N.Y. company bus. Investigation showed a tire on the bus, made by the Sieberling Company, had blown and thrown the bus out of control into Kelly's car. The bus also hit another auto driven by Franklin Clayton, East Orange fire captain. He and his two sons, Franklin Jr., and James, received $5,400 for their injuries.

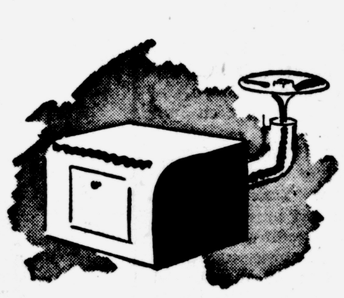
Some differences are easy to spot. Some aren't. Take house heating for example. To the average person one furnace looks pretty much like another. Actually, the real difference lies in the performance. And for efficient, quiet performance nothing compares with a Natural Gas fired furnace. All of the fuel burns (with no soot or smudge) and burns without rumble or roar — silently. A completely automatic Natural Gas fired furnace costs much less, lasts much longer than other type furnaces. Remember, all costs considered,. Natural Gas Heat compares favorably in price with any other fuel on the market.



Call Central Hudson for the full story on heating your house with Natural Gas. Whether you need a furnace or a conversion burner, you can't beat Gas House Heat!

A TROUBLESOME QUESTION

A wife writes: "Recently my husband's cousin and her husband and daughter came to this city from the West Coast for a visit. They spent a weekend with us at our house. Yesterday my husband received a note from this cousin thanking him for the hospitality shown them while they were here. The note was addressed to my husband alone, and although she did make mention of me in the note, I felt rather put out over this as I was the one who did all the work. I think the note should have been sent to me—or at least to Mr. and Mrs. Wasn't this improper?"

No, addressing her letter of thanks to him in which you were mentioned was quite proper since her relationship to him was the reason why she was given your and his, hospitality. Also general public opinion considers the husband the head of the family. I personally would have written to you, but I am sure that many of those who read this letter, will think that addressing your husband was right.

Who Writes First?

Dear Mrs. Post: Who writes the first letter—the boy or the girl? We've been arguing this question and I said that I thought the girl might write first as she is supposed to speak first to a boy she doesn't know well.

Answer: Between old friends there is no rule. The one who goes away is likely to write first because his (or her) surroundings suggest subjects to write about. On the other hand, any especially interesting happening at home produces an even greater impulse to write. When a new friendship starts, it is better that the girl wait for the boy's letter; just as she waits for him to ask her to go out with him.

Taking Her Holiday Alone!

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be impossible for a young woman, 21, to go away to a resort town for a two week's holiday, alone? There is absolutely no one who can go at the time I can and I need a vacation badly.

Answer: Any self-reliant young woman of today can quite properly go on a holiday alone—especially if she stays in a "family type" hotel.

A TROUBLESOME QUESTION

A wife writes: "Recently my husband's cousin and her husband and daughter came to this city from the West Coast for a visit. They spent a weekend with us at our house. Yesterday my husband received a note from this cousin thanking him for the hospitality shown them while they were here. The note was addressed to my husband alone, and although she did make mention of me in the note, I felt rather put out over this as I was the one who did all the work. I think the note should have been sent to me—or at least to Mr. and Mrs. Wasn't this improper?"

No, addressing her letter of thanks to him in which you were mentioned was quite proper since her relationship to him was the reason why she was given your and his, hospitality. Also general public opinion considers the husband the head of the family. I personally would have written to you, but I am sure that many of those who read this letter, will think that addressing your husband was right.

Who Writes First?

Dear Mrs. Post: Who writes the first letter—the boy or the girl? We've been arguing this question and I said that I thought the girl might write first as she is supposed to speak first to a boy she doesn't know well.

Answer: Between old friends there is no rule. The one who goes away is likely to write first because his (or her) surroundings suggest subjects to write about. On the other hand, any especially interesting happening at home produces an even greater impulse to write. When a new friendship starts, it is better that the girl wait for the boy's letter; just as she waits for him to ask her to go out with him.

Taking Her Holiday Alone!

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be impossible for a young woman, 21, to go away to a resort town for a two week's holiday, alone? There is absolutely no one who can go at the time I can and I need a vacation badly.

Answer: Any self-reliant young woman of today can quite properly go on a holiday alone—especially if she stays in a "family type" hotel.

Sermon in Song Will Be Presented At West Camp Church

HOBART MITCHELL

A Sermon in Song will be given by Hobart Mitchell, American baritone, next Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp. His program will begin at 10:45 a. m.

Mr. Mitchell has given this highly unusual program before church and college groups throughout the country. The sermon opens with a solo, after which the spoken text and sacred music alternate in developing the message. Well-known oratorio arias, psalm settings, sacred songs and spirituals comprise the music, and these are integrated with the sermon text so that the transition from speaking to singing is accomplished without any break in continuity.

The program is described by Mr. Mitchell, "It concerns the need for us to be humble and open in mind and spirit if we are to grow and be helped by God. Very often only trouble will turn us from our smugness and self-assurance to seek God and His help and then rather than seeking the 'Kingdom,' we want only to get our desires fulfilled."

Mr. Mitchell continues, "Rather it is for us to ask God to help us grow in His sight, to fit into His plan and to do His work. Then will our prayers be quietly answered and our life integrated and made whole."

The music in the sermon will be the following: The Publican, by Van de Water; Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen, spiritual; O, Savior Hear me, Gluck-Buck; O God Have Mercy, from the oratorio, St. Paul, Mendelssohn; Lead Me, O Lord, by Abraham Molique; Standing in the Need of Prayer, spiritual; Arise, Shine, Scott.

"Hobart Mitchell is able to effect a new and vivid appeal to the imagination which heightens the religious effect of the service," said Dr. Henry T. Moore, president of Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, commenting on a presentation by the artist. "His excellent singing voice and emotional warmth provide an unusually valuable experience."

Joe Tremper Pounds Triple, Two Singles

Bobby Short, a Town of Esopus Little League graduate, pitched the Volunteer Firemen's new Fraternal Youth League franchise to a 10-0 victory over the Kiwanis in the 1954 opener, yesterday at Dietz Stadium.

The curve-balling right hander held the powerful Kiwanis Club array to four scattered hits and the shutout was never in doubt.

The Vols made only five hits off Bill Thomas and Ward Yerry but had the comfort of eight walks and several miscues.

Short walked only one batter and struck out eight. Thomas fanned four and Yerry one.

After two scoreless rounds, The Vols started a string of five straight innings in which they scored at least one run.

Tremper Triples

Joe Tremper, the Vols leadoff and centerfielder, had the distinction of driving in the first run of the season. He slammed a triple past Ken Shaver in left field with Joe Klonowski on base in the third inning.

Tremper went on to add two singles to become the leading hitter of the game with three hits. Jim Cullum and Joe Klonowski picked up the other Vols safeties.

Joe Schrowang had a double for Kiwanis. Tom Halinan and Bob Dudek each stroked a single.

Ryff Extends Streak to 12; Scortichini Wins

New York, June 22 (AP) — Frankie Ryff, a shiny new face in the lightweight division, is ready to step up in class after his impressive victory over Brian Kelly.

The 22-year-old New York lad, unbeaten in 12 pro fights, won a lopsided fight from Kelly last night at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway. He had the Niagara Falls, Ont., boxer on the floor in the eighth round.

Referee Mark Conn and Judge Americo Schiavone each scored it 9-1 and Judge Joe Eppy 8-2. The AP card was 9-1, all for Ryff. A crowd of 1,060 paid $2,430 to see the 3 to 1 favorite come through as expected with left hooks and left-right combinations.

Italo Scortichini finally grabbed a decision, although a split verdict, over Pedro Gonzales at St. Nicholas Arena and he could hardly believe it.

"You won, you won" Charlie Johnston, his co-manager, told the Italian import before the decision was announced.

Scortichini thought he was "robbed" when he was held to a draw by Carmen Basilio at Miami, Jan. 16. The fans raised the roof at the Garden, Feb. 12 when he lost a split decision to Joey Giambra. Scortichini didn't like decisions against him by Carmine Fiore, March 27 or a defeat by Basilio in a Syracuse rematch, May 15.

Scortichini suffered a cut at the side of the right eye last night. He swept the early rounds, brushing past the left jabs of the Rankin, Pa., middleweight to pound at the body with both hands. Although Gonzales solved Italo's style in the late rounds he started too late.

Judge Joe Agnello had it 7-3 and Referee Al Berl 5-4-1, both for Scortichini. Judge Harold Barnes scored it 5-4-1 for Gonzales. The AP card was 7-3 for the Italian.

Bull fighting is carried on in about a half dozen countries.

Ryff Extends Streak to 12; Scortichini Wins

New York, June 22 (AP) — Frankie Ryff, a shiny new face in the lightweight division, is ready to step up in class after his impressive victory over Brian Kelly.

The 22-year-old New York lad, unbeaten in 12 pro fights, won a lopsided fight from Kelly last night at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway. He had the Niagara Falls, Ont., boxer on the floor in the eighth round.

Referee Mark Conn and Judge Americo Schiavone each scored it 9-1 and Judge Joe Eppy 8-2. The AP card was 9-1, all for Ryff. A crowd of 1,060 paid $2,430 to see the 3 to 1 favorite come through as expected with left hooks and left-right combinations.

Italo Scortichini finally grabbed a decision, although a split verdict, over Pedro Gonzales at St. Nicholas Arena and he could hardly believe it.

"You won, you won" Charlie Johnston, his co-manager, told the Italian import before the decision was announced.

Scortichini thought he was "robbed" when he was held to a draw by Carmen Basilio at Miami, Jan. 16. The fans raised the roof at the Garden, Feb. 12 when he lost a split decision to Joey Giambra. Scortichini didn't like decisions against him by Carmine Fiore, March 27 or a defeat by Basilio in a Syracuse rematch, May 15.

Scortichini suffered a cut at the side of the right eye last night. He swept the early rounds, brushing past the left jabs of the Rankin, Pa., middleweight to pound at the body with both hands. Although Gonzales solved Italo's style in the late rounds he started too late.

Judge Joe Agnello had it 7-3 and Referee Al Berl 5-4-1, both for Scortichini. Judge Harold Barnes scored it 5-4-1 for Gonzales. The AP card was 7-3 for the Italian.

Bull fighting is carried on in about a half dozen countries.

Satchel Paige Pitches at Stadium Tonight

Fabulous Negro Hurler Appears With Trotters

Ancient Star Due For 3-Inning Stint

Satchel Paige, one of baseball's all-time pitching greats, will be at Dietz Memorial Stadium tonight. Game time is 8:30.

The legendary Negro hurler, who made the big leagues for five years after a fabulous career in the Negro circuits, is scheduled to pitch three innings for the Harlem Globe Trotters against the House of David.

Paige and the touring Globe Trotters open a two-day stand of high powered independent baseball in the city.

Monarchs Here Wednesday

Following tonight's Globetrotter-David contest, the famous Kansas City Monarchs, perennial champions of the Negro American League, meet the Indianapolis Clowns of the same circuit Wednesday night.

This will be a regular Negro American League game, with the league furnishing umpires, and all other official personnel.

For Paige, tonight's game marks his second appearance in Kingston. He played here in 1941 with a touring team and attracted nearly 5,000 fans to the stadium.

Sacrifice Fly Rule Boosting Batting Marks

New York, June 22 (AP)—The sacrifice fly, revived after 14 years to hike baseball's batting averages, is doing its job in a big league way.

An Associated Press survey disclosed today that the restored rule generally has increased hitting percentage three points over what they would have been without the regulation.

A total of 314 sacrifice flies have been hit in the majors, lifting the overall average in both circuits from .257 to .260. The National League has accounted for 160 SF's and the American 154.

Three players—Gil Hodges of Brooklyn, Andy Pafko of Milwaukee and Mickey Vernon of Washington — have better-than-.300 averages because of the sacrifice fly.

Hodges, the Dodgers' strapping first baseman, has hit the most sacrifice flies in the major leagues, eight. He is 11 points to the good, with a current mark of .309. He would be batting .298 under last year's rules.

Pafko, with four sacrifice flies, is batting .303 and Vernon, also with four, is at .301. Andy, without his sacrifice fly total, would be at .297 and Vernon at .296.

Landy Sees No Improvement On World Record for Year

Turku, Finland, June 22 (AP)—John Landy, the second man in history to crash the four-minute mile barrier, rested today after his record-shattering 3:58 performance and announced that he probably would do no better—at least for this year.

"I have kept my present top shape for more than nine months," said the 24-year-old Australian. "Now I believe some sort of reaction will set in. I think I have done what I can for this year."

But he left no doubt that he was looking forward to his duel with Roger Bannister of England, whose 3:59.4 performance he surpassed in the blazing sun of Turku Stadium yesterday, in the British Empire games next month. Bannister crashed the barrier May 6.

"I'm almost too happy to be able to speak," added Landy whose breathtaking career has included nine miles races of under 4:03. "If it hadn't been for Chris Chataway chasing me around the track I never would have made it.

"I knew he was immediately behind me and that he would not hesitate to pass me if I slowed up the very least."

Ironically, Chataway, an Englishman, was the runner who pushed Bannister to his 3:59.4 effort.

Lowers 1500 Meters

In the process of breaking the mile record, Landy also lowered the world 1,500-meter mark to 3:41.8. Both records must be recognized by the International Amateur Federation, but there was no doubt that the recognition would be a mere formality.

In London, where the news of Landy's race with his usual calm, "It is a wonderful achievement," he commented. "Landy has tried as hard as anyone to run the mile under four minutes and I am glad he has succeeded. This shows there is no finality in records. They can all be broken."

The two meet in the British Empire games in Vancouver next month and the experts immediately began envisioning another record.

"That will be a race," smiled Bannister, "and the time will be of secondary consideration. I don't really expect Landy's time will be broken there."

THE WINNING SHOT—Eyes bulging, Ed Furgol, finding a hole through the trees, played a 7 iron to the 18th fairway of Baltusrol's upper and other course to get out of the woods. (NEA)

The Score Board

BY ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the New York Yankees stagger and flounder five games off the pace, the Cleveland Indians confidently awaited an invasion by the Philadelphia A's tonight. In fact, they weren't even thinking much of the A's. The weekend series with the Yanks occupied their thoughts.

Casey Stengel's New Yorkers also were thinking of the Cleveland series. But they were far from confident. If anything, they were somewhat panicky at the thought of facing Al Lopez' surging Tribe.

This is the year Lopez has been waiting for. No one in Cleveland thinks the club will fold as it has an annoying habit of doing in the late stages. Silenced are the critics who have been howling for Lopez' scalp because he insisted on using Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia both as starters and relievers.

Relief Hurlers Click

Now, when the stretch run comes, Lopez will have a couple of good relievers to send in when the going gets hot. Both Don Mossi and Ray Narleski have filled a big void in the bullpen.

The club knows it can win.

In the National League, the New York Giants pulled a game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers with an 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, in the only major league game scheduled yesterday. Willie Mays hit two home runs, but the Giants still required the services of three pitchers—Jim Hearn, Windy McCall and Marv Grissom—to dump the Birds.

Little League pitching regulations that limit the number of innings a boy can pitch within 72 hours probably robbed Hobart Armstrong of a no-hitter in yesterday's American League clash between Sprague Electric and Moose Lodge.

Armstrong didn't allow a safety for six innings but the Moose managed to get a 2-2 tie in six innings. Hobart's maximum number of innings were used up by that time and he was ineligible for the extra inning.

Garyr Barnes tossed the seventh for Sprague and was tagged with the loss, as the Moose won its fourth victory in five starts.

Win With 2 Hits

Moose Lodge made only two hits, both off Barnes in the seventh. Sprague collected but three off Charlie Boice and Mike Carpino. One was a homer by Hobert Armstrong.

As a pitcher, Armstrong struck out 10. Boice, one of the top hurlers, fanned seven and Carpino whiffed two. Garry Barnes and Bill Niles pounded doubles.

It was Armstrong who sent the Sprague squad winging to a 2-0 lead in the first. With one out Garry Barnes doubled and Hobart followed with a long clout over the left field fence for his second homer of the season.

In the Moose seventh, Dick Marcus singled and Bill Niles doubled, with Marcus scoring on a close play at the plate.

Richie Amato, one of the top caddies in town, predicts that George Hughes will run and hide from the Father Herdegen tournament field and set a new all-time scoring low for the 72 holes.

It is mere coincidence that Richie happens to be George's part-time caddy and staunch rooter. He figures that the Sweet Swinger can handle Twaalfskill and Woodstock with customary finesse. Meaning in par 70 or under.

Twaalfskill happens to be George's home grounds where he is club champion and 1953 city kingpin. If he succeeds in keeping a 5-stroke lead over Roy Vogt and a substantial bulge over other solid contenders, Hughes will become the first player to win the Ulster county amateur crown twice.

Hughes won the 1951 inaugural, a 54-hole affair at Twaalfskill, Woodstock and Wiltwyck, with a brilliant 208. That's major league golf. Of course you recall there was a 63 at Woodstock which tied the amateur course record held by Judson Phillips, an author and writer who resided in Woodstock in the pre-war period.

The Sweet Swinger shot 306 in 1952 to finish second to Dubby Raichle's winning 302 effort. Last year, Hughes fired a 287 for second place behind Bill Van Aken's current record of 288.

Thus, if Hughes repeats this year, he will have two titles and two runnerups to his credit. Isn't that just about par for the course.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

The 36-hole qualifying was an exacting test of golf at Wiltwyck and Shawangunk. Strangely enough, several players posted better scores at Wiltwyck, admittedly the toughest in the county, than at Shawangunk's precipitous slopes. Toughest hole in the tournament, No. 3 at Wiltwyck? Guess again. It was the No. 7 at Shawangunk where only 17 pars were made in 100 attempts. Tim Bilyeu of the home club solved it twice for pars. Hughes cracked it for 3-2, chipping from the edge of the green for a birdie deuce. Wiltwyck's traditional monster—the No. 3—defied all but 18 per cent of the players in 101 efforts. Roy Vogt, who shot brilliant golf on his home course, solved it twice. Ronnie Marks, one of the KHS aces, also hit it twice around.

• Birdies and Bogies:

Bill Van Aken may have blown his chances with a "9" on Wiltwyck's diabolical No. 7 where only 28 per cent of 101 tries were effective. Paul Mills, who went off the first tee "5" had two pars there, along with Roy Vogt, Jimmy Turck and Bill Costello. Van Aken's "9" recalls two incidents about that trying hole, made more exacting by Thruway construction. When Denny Shute, then PGA champion, visited Kingston several years ago on exhibition, he took one look at the No. 7 hole and whipped out an iron. A year ago, Gene Sarazen played nine fast holes at Wiltwyck and the writer asked him about No. 7. "Anybody who goes off this tee with a wood in real competition is crazy," said the Squire of Germantown. Allen Waterous, who missed by a stroke, the ex-DA, Lou Bruhn, won't forget their finish holes at Shawangunk. Bruhn went 8-6-14 and Waterous 7-7.

• Of Men and Mice:

Charlie Bostic is the man Diogenes went looking for with that lantern several centuries ago. Charlie, the ex-KHS player, took 15 strokes on Wiltwyck's 6th dog-leg and counted them ALL. Harry Kennedy, the New Jersey swinger who has a summer residence at Woodstock, tied Bill Van Aken's "9" on the 7th at Wiltwyck. Larry Houlihan, the student of the swing, surprised the Woodstock contingent with a nifty 77 at Wiltwyck. As usual, Shawangunk Golf Club rolled out the royal carpet for the Herdegen players. Bleecker Bradford, the pro, Julian Raper, Bob Stapleton and others did an excellent job of getting the course in wonderful shape and entertaining the players at luncheon. The Shawangunk greens drew much favorable comment from the perspiring players.

Incidental Intelligence: Wiltwyck remains the stronghold of competitive golf, with 10 players in the 36-hole finals. Twaalfskill and Woodstock are tied with 8, including two newcomers in Bill Van Aken, perennial Wiltwyck champion, and Charles J. Turck. Ellenville placed four and Palenville has one, long-hitting Bill Kaufman.

Heavy Outside Entry List for Woodstock Show

In addition to a large number of entries for county owned horses to compete in the Woodstock Riding Club's eighth annual horse show, scheduled Sunday, June 27, many have already come in from out of the area. The show will be held at the club's ring on Ohayo Mountain. Judging will begin promptly at 9 a. m.

Included in the out-of-town group are Tennessee Walking Horses, King of Kentucky owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest LeClair, Amherst, Mass.; Southern Style and Wilson Jr. Allen owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Houghtaling, Cairo; I DeClare and Midnight Sunny Boy from the J. F. Rice Stables in Binghamton; and Ace O'Hearts owned by Egbert Hornbeck, Poughkeepsie.

The Three-gaited saddle horses include the Duke of Denmark owned by Miss Vals Echlin, New York; Crebilly's Democracy owned by Jordan DiCambio, Wappingers Falls; and Victory Jubilee owned by Mrs. Richard W. Bull, Newburgh. Among the Hunters to be shown are Cadet owned by Jeannette A. Root of Brainerd and Four Roses owned by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rooney, Loudonville.

Requests for entry forms are being received daily from prospective exhibitors in the Newburgh, Albany and Troy areas and from Dutchess and Westchester counties; New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts. It is likely too, that entries will be received from the Philadelphia, Pa., area.

Announcement will be made of the local horses entered as soon as the list is compiled.

Prize lists and entry forms may be obtained from Mrs. Virgil VanWagonen, secretary, Bearsville, or from Mrs. George Hard, chairman, Ulster Park.

Satchel Paige Pitches at Stadium Tonight

Fabulous Negro Hurler Appears With Trotters

Ancient Star Due For 3-Inning Stint

Satchel Paige, one of baseball's all-time pitching greats, will be at Dietz Memorial Stadium tonight. Game time is 8:30.

The legendary Negro hurler, who made the big leagues for five years after a fabulous career in the Negro circuits, is scheduled to pitch three innings for the Harlem Globe Trotters against the House of David.

Paige and the touring Globe Trotters open a two-day stand of high powered independent baseball in the city.

Monarchs Here Wednesday

Following tonight's Globetrotter-David contest, the famous Kansas City Monarchs, perennial champions of the Negro American League, meet the Indianapolis Clowns of the same circuit Wednesday night.

This will be a regular Negro American League game, with the league furnishing umpires, and all other official personnel.

For Paige, tonight's game marks his second appearance in Kingston. He played here in 1941 with a touring team and attracted nearly 5,000 fans to the stadium.

Sacrifice Fly Rule Boosting Batting Marks

New York, June 22 (AP)—The sacrifice fly, revived after 14 years to hike baseball's batting averages, is doing its job in a big league way.

An Associated Press survey disclosed today that the restored rule generally has increased hitting percentage three points over what they would have been without the regulation.

A total of 314 sacrifice flies have been hit in the majors, lifting the overall average in both circuits from .257 to .260. The National League has accounted for 160 SF's and the American 154.

Three players—Gil Hodges of Brooklyn, Andy Pafko of Milwaukee and Mickey Vernon of Washington — have better-than-.300 averages because of the sacrifice fly.

Hodges, the Dodgers' strapping first baseman, has hit the most sacrifice flies in the major leagues, eight. He is 11 points to the good, with a current mark of .309. He would be batting .298 under last year's rules.

Pafko, with four sacrifice flies, is batting .303 and Vernon, also with four, is at .301. Andy, without his sacrifice fly total, would be at .297 and Vernon at .296.

Landy Sees No Improvement On World Record for Year

Turku, Finland, June 22 (AP)—John Landy, the second man in history to crash the four-minute mile barrier, rested today after his record-shattering 3:58 performance and announced that he probably would do no better—at least for this year.

"I have kept my present top shape for more than nine months," said the 24-year-old Australian. "Now I believe some sort of reaction will set in. I think I have done what I can for this year."

But he left no doubt that he was looking forward to his duel with Roger Bannister of England, whose 3:59.4 performance he surpassed in the blazing sun of Turku Stadium yesterday, in the British Empire games next month. Bannister crashed the barrier May 6.

"I'm almost too happy to be able to speak," added Landy whose breathtaking career has included nine miles races of under 4:03. "If it hadn't been for Chris Chataway chasing me around the track I never would have made it.

"I knew he was immediately behind me and that he would not hesitate to pass me if I slowed up the very least."

Ironically, Chataway, an Englishman, was the runner who pushed Bannister to his 3:59.4 effort.

Lowers 1500 Meters

In the process of breaking the mile record, Landy also lowered the world 1,500-meter mark to 3:41.8. Both records must be recognized by the International Amateur Federation, but there was no doubt that the recognition would be a mere formality.

In London, where the news of Landy's race with his usual calm, "It is a wonderful achievement," he commented. "Landy has tried as hard as anyone to run the mile under four minutes and I am glad he has succeeded. This shows there is no finality in records. They can all be broken."

The two meet in the British Empire games in Vancouver next month and the experts immediately began envisioning another record.

"That will be a race," smiled Bannister, "and the time will be of secondary consideration. I don't really expect Landy's time will be broken there."

THE WINNING SHOT—Eyes bulging, Ed Furgol, finding a hole through the trees, played a 7 iron to the 18th fairway of Baltusrol's upper and other course to get out of the woods. (NEA)

The Score Board

BY ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the New York Yankees stagger and flounder five games off the pace, the Cleveland Indians confidently awaited an invasion by the Philadelphia A's tonight. In fact, they weren't even thinking much of the A's. The weekend series with the Yanks occupied their thoughts.

Casey Stengel's New Yorkers also were thinking of the Cleveland series. But they were far from confident. If anything, they were somewhat panicky at the thought of facing Al Lopez' surging Tribe.

This is the year Lopez has been waiting for. No one in Cleveland thinks the club will fold as it has an annoying habit of doing in the late stages. Silenced are the critics who have been howling for Lopez' scalp because he insisted on using Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia both as starters and relievers.

Relief Hurlers Click

Now, when the stretch run comes, Lopez will have a couple of good relievers to send in when the going gets hot. Both Don Mossi and Ray Narleski have filled a big void in the bullpen.

The club knows it can win.

In the National League, the New York Giants pulled a game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers with an 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, in the only major league game scheduled yesterday. Willie Mays hit two home runs, but the Giants still required the services of three pitchers—Jim Hearn, Windy McCall and Marv Grissom—to dump the Birds.

Little League pitching regulations that limit the number of innings a boy can pitch within 72 hours probably robbed Hobart Armstrong of a no-hitter in yesterday's American League clash between Sprague Electric and Moose Lodge.

Armstrong didn't allow a safety for six innings but the Moose managed to get a 2-2 tie in six innings. Hobart's maximum number of innings were used up by that time and he was ineligible for the extra inning.

Garyr Barnes tossed the seventh for Sprague and was tagged with the loss, as the Moose won its fourth victory in five starts.

Win With 2 Hits

Moose Lodge made only two hits, both off Barnes in the seventh. Sprague collected but three off Charlie Boice and Mike Carpino. One was a homer by Hobert Armstrong.

As a pitcher, Armstrong struck out 10. Boice, one of the top hurlers, fanned seven and Carpino whiffed two. Garry Barnes and Bill Niles pounded doubles.

It was Armstrong who sent the Sprague squad winging to a 2-0 lead in the first. With one out Garry Barnes doubled and Hobart followed with a long clout over the left field fence for his second homer of the season.

In the Moose seventh, Dick Marcus singled and Bill Niles doubled, with Marcus scoring on a close play at the plate.

Richie Amato, one of the top caddies in town, predicts that George Hughes will run and hide from the Father Herdegen tournament field and set a new all-time scoring low for the 72 holes.

It is mere coincidence that Richie happens to be George's part-time caddy and staunch rooter. He figures that the Sweet Swinger can handle Twaalfskill and Woodstock with customary finesse. Meaning in par 70 or under.

Twaalfskill happens to be George's home grounds where he is club champion and 1953 city kingpin. If he succeeds in keeping a 5-stroke lead over Roy Vogt and a substantial bulge over other solid contenders, Hughes will become the first player to win the Ulster county amateur crown twice.

Hughes won the 1951 inaugural, a 54-hole affair at Twaalfskill, Woodstock and Wiltwyck, with a brilliant 208. That's major league golf. Of course you recall there was a 63 at Woodstock which tied the amateur course record held by Judson Phillips, an author and writer who resided in Woodstock in the pre-war period.

The Sweet Swinger shot 306 in 1952 to finish second to Dubby Raichle's winning 302 effort. Last year, Hughes fired a 287 for second place behind Bill Van Aken's current record of 288.

Thus, if Hughes repeats this year, he will have two titles and two runnerups to his credit. Isn't that just about par for the course.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

The 36-hole qualifying was an exacting test of golf at Wiltwyck and Shawangunk. Strangely enough, several players posted better scores at Wiltwyck, admittedly the toughest in the county, than at Shawangunk's precipitous slopes. Toughest hole in the tournament, No. 3 at Wiltwyck? Guess again. It was the No. 7 at Shawangunk where only 17 pars were made in 100 attempts. Tim Bilyeu of the home club solved it twice for pars. Hughes cracked it for 3-2, chipping from the edge of the green for a birdie deuce. Wiltwyck's traditional monster—the No. 3—defied all but 18 per cent of the players in 101 efforts. Roy Vogt, who shot brilliant golf on his home course, solved it twice. Ronnie Marks, one of the KHS aces, also hit it twice around.

• Birdies and Bogies:

Bill Van Aken may have blown his chances with a "9" on Wiltwyck's diabolical No. 7 where only 28 per cent of 101 tries were effective. Paul Mills, who went off the first tee "5" had two pars there, along with Roy Vogt, Jimmy Turck and Bill Costello. Van Aken's "9" recalls two incidents about that trying hole, made more exacting by Thruway construction. When Denny Shute, then PGA champion, visited Kingston several years ago on exhibition, he took one look at the No. 7 hole and whipped out an iron. A year ago, Gene Sarazen played nine fast holes at Wiltwyck and the writer asked him about No. 7. "Anybody who goes off this tee with a wood in real competition is crazy," said the Squire of Germantown. Allen Waterous, who missed by a stroke, the ex-DA, Lou Bruhn, won't forget their finish holes at Shawangunk. Bruhn went 8-6-14 and Waterous 7-7.

• Of Men and Mice:

Charlie Bostic is the man Diogenes went looking for with that lantern several centuries ago. Charlie, the ex-KHS player, took 15 strokes on Wiltwyck's 6th dog-leg and counted them ALL. Harry Kennedy, the New Jersey swinger who has a summer residence at Woodstock, tied Bill Van Aken's "9" on the 7th at Wiltwyck. Larry Houlihan, the student of the swing, surprised the Woodstock contingent with a nifty 77 at Wiltwyck. As usual, Shawangunk Golf Club rolled out the royal carpet for the Herdegen players. Bleecker Bradford, the pro, Julian Raper, Bob Stapleton and others did an excellent job of getting the course in wonderful shape and entertaining the players at luncheon. The Shawangunk greens drew much favorable comment from the perspiring players.

Incidental Intelligence: Wiltwyck remains the stronghold of competitive golf, with 10 players in the 36-hole finals. Twaalfskill and Woodstock are tied with 8, including two newcomers in Bill Van Aken, perennial Wiltwyck champion, and Charles J. Turck. Ellenville placed four and Palenville has one, long-hitting Bill Kaufman.

Heavy Outside Entry List for Woodstock Show

In addition to a large number of entries for county owned horses to compete in the Woodstock Riding Club's eighth annual horse show, scheduled Sunday, June 27, many have already come in from out of the area. The show will be held at the club's ring on Ohayo Mountain. Judging will begin promptly at 9 a. m.

Included in the out-of-town group are Tennessee Walking Horses, King of Kentucky owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest LeClair, Amherst, Mass.; Southern Style and Wilson Jr. Allen owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Houghtaling, Cairo; I DeClare and Midnight Sunny Boy from the J. F. Rice Stables in Binghamton; and Ace O'Hearts owned by Egbert Hornbeck, Poughkeepsie.

The Three-gaited saddle horses include the Duke of Denmark owned by Miss Vals Echlin, New York; Crebilly's Democracy owned by Jordan DiCambio, Wappingers Falls; and Victory Jubilee owned by Mrs. Richard W. Bull, Newburgh. Among the Hunters to be shown are Cadet owned by Jeannette A. Root of Brainerd and Four Roses owned by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rooney, Loudonville.

Requests for entry forms are being received daily from prospective exhibitors in the Newburgh, Albany and Troy areas and from Dutchess and Westchester counties; New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts. It is likely too, that entries will be received from the Philadelphia, Pa., area.

Announcement will be made of the local horses entered as soon as the list is compiled.

Prize lists and entry forms may be obtained from Mrs. Virgil VanWagonen, secretary, Bearsville, or from Mrs. George Hard, chairman, Ulster Park.

Trailways Score 5-4 Over Dock

Trailways scored three runs in the fourth to shade Island Dock, 5-4, in the National Little League.

Each side made every hit count for a run as Trailways squared their season's record at 2 wins and 2 losses. Four walks, a single and Terry Corkery's double set up the winning rally for Trailways.

Don Kruzenski, the losing pitcher, homered. He walked eight and fanned seven.

Terry Corkery hit a double and single and Joe Senor two solo swats for the Trailways. Billy Huber picked up another single. Jim Rodden and Abe Levy pounded doubles.

Ray Radel and Huber shared the pitching chores for the Trailways, Huber fanning five and Radel three.

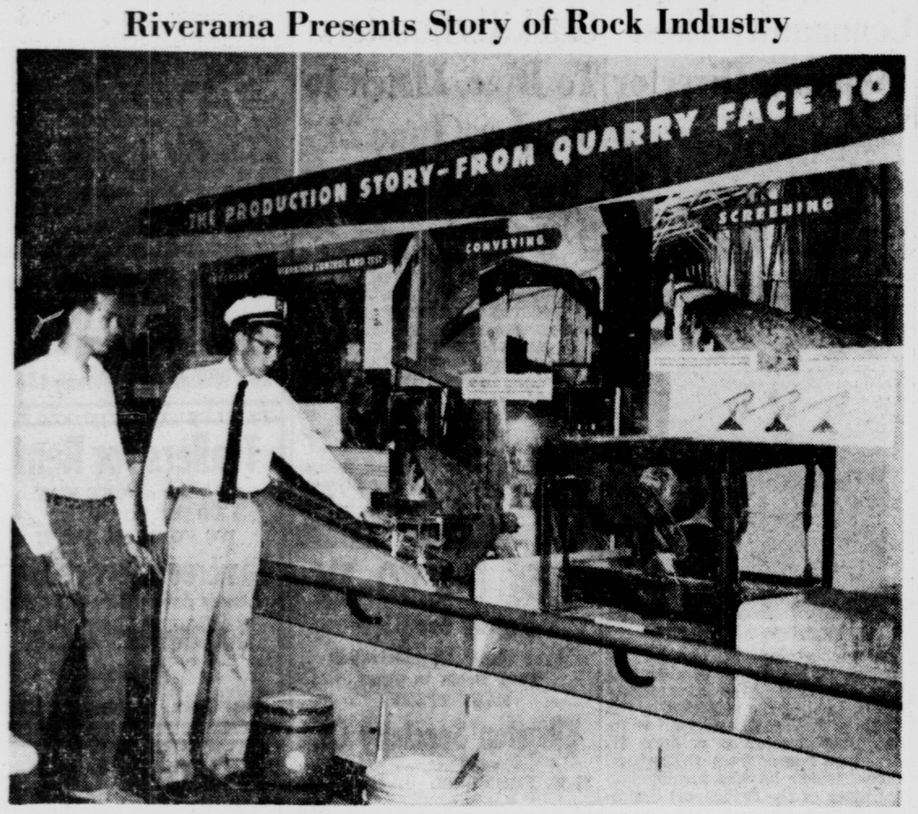
Riverama Presents Story of Rock Industry



The story of trap rock and the crushed stone industry is presented in graphic form in an exhibition entitled Riverama aboard a barge tied up this week in Rondout creek near the ferry slip. The exhibit will be open free to the public from 3-9 p. m. Wednesday through Saturday and from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Sunday. Left to right, Richard Missan and Paul Coburn, co-skippers of the barge exhibition, sponsored by the New York Trap Rock Corporation, 230 Park avenue, New York. Both are Yale University students planning to study law. They invite parents to bring their children aboard. One of the features of the exhibition, which includes a pictorial history of the Hudson Valley, is a diorama of the community of the future—a complete scale model. (Freeman photo)

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Entries Released For Eighth Annual HorseShowSunday

Woodstock, June 21—The annual Woodstock Horse Show has come a long way since its beginning eight years ago in a field in Lake Hill, then composed entirely of informal Western classes. On Sunday, June 27, at the Ohayo Mountain riding ring, the Woodstock Riding Club will present a show, recognized by the National Horse Shows Association, and this year international in scope. Excitement has been riding high in the club with the announcement last week that four famous horses from Montreal, Canada, have been entered. They include three jumpers—Dennis Moore, Caroussel and Feuille d'Or — and one hunter, Neetawa. The horses are owned by J. A. Desfosses of Montreal. It is expected that Desfousses and his party will arrive at the Ohayo Mountain ring Friday night.

Other out of town entries include the following hunters: Cadet, owned by Jeannette A. Root Brainard, and Four Roses owned by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rooney of Loudonville; Omachic, owned by Mrs. John Gottschalk from Feura Bush.

Included in the three-gaited saddle horse group are: Duke of Denmark, owned by Miss Vals Echlin of New York; Crebilly's Democracy owned by Jordan DiCambio, Wappingers Falls; Victory Jubilee, owned by Richard W. Bull, Newburgh.

In the walking horse division are: Southern Style and Wilson Jr. Allen, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Houghtaling, Cairo; I Declare and Midnight and Sunny Boy of the J. F. Rice Stables, Binghamton; Ace O'Hearts, owned by Egbert Hornbeck and King of Kentucky, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest LeClair, Amhurst, Mass.

Also from out-of-town are: Vida Mac Donald, owned by Peter R. Reneson of East Hampton, Conn.; Evening Star, owned by the Golden View Stud Farm, Goshen.

Horses from Ulster county which have already been entered are: King, owned by Alton Dietz of Hurley; Lady, owned by Miss Barbara Davenport of Stone Ridge; Starjack, owned by Miss Helen Dargan of Saugerties; Geedee, owned by "Izzy" Epstein; Honey and Abner, owned by Miss Susan Ashley of Kingston; Gambler's Choice, owned by Miss Betsy Wagenfohr and Southlands Free Air, owned by Miss Eva Van Rijn, both of this village.

From word already received, Mrs. George Hard, horse show chairman, has every reason to expect that post entries by owners of both in and out-of-town horses, will be heavy.

Although the horse show has grown from a small group of local entries eight years ago, gradually drawing horses from Ulster county, then from across the Hudson river and from New England, one aspect has remained unchanged—for which all the club members and visitors are grateful. Corporal Ray Dunn, of the state police, was assigned to the first show and has never missed a show since that time. The club is happy to announce that he has again been assigned to Sunday's show.

The first aid station will be under the direction of Mervin Doremus and Reggie Lapo, and the loud speaker system will be handled by Clark's Radio Service.

A costly undertaking, the annual horse show is made possible by the continued support of business men and patrons from Woodstock, Kingston and Ulster county. A non-profit organization, the Woodstock Riding Club, through these shows make it possible for young people to ride in a recognized show without having to travel miles to do so. It is estimated that there will be a least 1,000 spectators this year.

Although there is an amply supplied refreshment stand, under the direction of Virgil Van Wagonen, families are welcome to come to the field with their picnic lunches.

The first class will enter the ring promptly at 9 a. m.

Coach House Players Hold Annual Banquet

tickets that will entitle the holder to bathing facilities, steam baths, solarium, golf, boats and canoes, and other facilities enjoyed by the overnight guests. However, he explained, it will probably be necessary to limit these season tickets to about 50 while reconstruction is in progress.

Others Go to Aerator

Other sweltering residents drove out Routes 28A to the area's famed "outdoor aid conditioning," otherwise known as the Ashokan Reservoir's areator.

There the lee side is always considerably cooler than surrounding territory as the breeze carries the mists from the fountains over the grass.

On Sunday, according to Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electric officials, automobiles completely filled available parking space along the perimeter road, and latecomers in some cases found it necessary to park along the drives leading in from Route 28A.

Circus Well Attended

Diversion-seeking residents also flocked to Hunt's Circus, playing Monday evening in the parking lot at the Dietz Memorial Stadium in Kingston, and although the experience was not cooling, the clowns, performers, and trained animals succeeded in getting the minds of the spectators—especially the younger ones—off the subject of the heat. Other residents attended the twilight baseball game at the stadium, to watch the youngsters in the Fraternal Youth League in the season's opener.

The coming of summer with the closing of schools and curtailment of various club and group activities also heralded the picnic season, with many groups planning and holding outings at city parks and elsewhere. Burnett reported that DeWitt Lake, for instance, is "booked for picnics" all this week.

Packard . . .

American Motors Corp.

All six of the small car companies together have been able to garner less than five per cent of the auto market so far this year. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have accounted for more than 95 per cent.

Industry gossip has it that once the Studebaker-Packard consolidation is approved by stockholders, efforts may be made to bring the new company and American Motors together.

The Studebaker-Packard combination will bring together companies with about $300 million in assets and about $100 million in working capital.

Large Crowd Attends Fourth Annual Dinner Of Drama Group

The largest crowd in the four-year history of the Coach House Players attended the annual banquet Thursday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Jack Marquardt, local TV entertainer, and former entertainer in night clubs in California and New York, presented tricks of magic. George Betts, president of the Coach House Players, commended the members for their co-operation this year and thanked Houston Richards, director of all Coach House plays, for his guidance. Mr. Betts also said that the success of the organization was due in a large part to the loyal support of men like Hugo Wessler, who was a guest at the banquet, and to the interest shown by many people in Kingston and the surrounding area who contribute to the wardrobe and workshop of the Coach House Players.

Mrs. Raymond R. Gross read her poem in which she reviewed the organization's accomplishments during the years. Mrs. Gross was presented with a gift from Mr. Wessler in appreciation of her work for the Coach House Players. Miss Margaret Mellert welcomed the group and acted as emcee.

Condition Is 'Fair'

The condition of Wesley Van Vliet of New Paltz was listed as "fair" at the Kingston Hospital today. He was reported injured in an automobile accident near High Falls on June 11.

The story of trap rock and the crushed stone industry is presented in graphic form in an exhibition entitled Riverama aboard a barge tied up this week in Rondout creek near the ferry slip. The exhibit will be open free to the public from 3-9 p. m. Wednesday through Saturday and from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Sunday. Left to right, Richard Missan and Paul Coburn, co-skippers of the barge exhibition, sponsored by the New York Trap Rock Corporation, 230 Park avenue, New York. Both are Yale University students planning to study law. They invite parents to bring their children aboard. One of the features of the exhibition, which includes a pictorial history of the Hudson Valley, is a diorama of the community of the future—a complete scale model. (Freeman photo)

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Entries Released For Eighth Annual HorseShowSunday

Woodstock, June 21—The annual Woodstock Horse Show has come a long way since its beginning eight years ago in a field in Lake Hill, then composed entirely of informal Western classes. On Sunday, June 27, at the Ohayo Mountain riding ring, the Woodstock Riding Club will present a show, recognized by the National Horse Shows Association, and this year international in scope. Excitement has been riding high in the club with the announcement last week that four famous horses from Montreal, Canada, have been entered. They include three jumpers—Dennis Moore, Caroussel and Feuille d'Or — and one hunter, Neetawa. The horses are owned by J. A. Desfosses of Montreal. It is expected that Desfousses and his party will arrive at the Ohayo Mountain ring Friday night.

Other out of town entries include the following hunters: Cadet, owned by Jeannette A. Root Brainard, and Four Roses owned by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rooney of Loudonville; Omachic, owned by Mrs. John Gottschalk from Feura Bush.

Included in the three-gaited saddle horse group are: Duke of Denmark, owned by Miss Vals Echlin of New York; Crebilly's Democracy owned by Jordan DiCambio, Wappingers Falls; Victory Jubilee, owned by Richard W. Bull, Newburgh.

In the walking horse division are: Southern Style and Wilson Jr. Allen, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Houghtaling, Cairo; I Declare and Midnight and Sunny Boy of the J. F. Rice Stables, Binghamton; Ace O'Hearts, owned by Egbert Hornbeck and King of Kentucky, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest LeClair, Amhurst, Mass.

Also from out-of-town are: Vida Mac Donald, owned by Peter R. Reneson of East Hampton, Conn.; Evening Star, owned by the Golden View Stud Farm, Goshen.

Horses from Ulster county which have already been entered are: King, owned by Alton Dietz of Hurley; Lady, owned by Miss Barbara Davenport of Stone Ridge; Starjack, owned by Miss Helen Dargan of Saugerties; Geedee, owned by "Izzy" Epstein; Honey and Abner, owned by Miss Susan Ashley of Kingston; Gambler's Choice, owned by Miss Betsy Wagenfohr and Southlands Free Air, owned by Miss Eva Van Rijn, both of this village.

From word already received, Mrs. George Hard, horse show chairman, has every reason to expect that post entries by owners of both in and out-of-town horses, will be heavy.

Although the horse show has grown from a small group of local entries eight years ago, gradually drawing horses from Ulster county, then from across the Hudson river and from New England, one aspect has remained unchanged—for which all the club members and visitors are grateful. Corporal Ray Dunn, of the state police, was assigned to the first show and has never missed a show since that time. The club is happy to announce that he has again been assigned to Sunday's show.

The first aid station will be under the direction of Mervin Doremus and Reggie Lapo, and the loud speaker system will be handled by Clark's Radio Service.

A costly undertaking, the annual horse show is made possible by the continued support of business men and patrons from Woodstock, Kingston and Ulster county. A non-profit organization, the Woodstock Riding Club, through these shows make it possible for young people to ride in a recognized show without having to travel miles to do so. It is estimated that there will be a least 1,000 spectators this year.

Although there is an amply supplied refreshment stand, under the direction of Virgil Van Wagonen, families are welcome to come to the field with their picnic lunches.

The first class will enter the ring promptly at 9 a. m.

tickets that will entitle the holder to bathing facilities, steam baths, solarium, golf, boats and canoes, and other facilities enjoyed by the overnight guests. However, he explained, it will probably be necessary to limit these season tickets to about 50 while reconstruction is in progress.

Others Go to Aerator

Other sweltering residents drove out Routes 28A to the area's famed "outdoor aid conditioning," otherwise known as the Ashokan Reservoir's areator.

There the lee side is always considerably cooler than surrounding territory as the breeze carries the mists from the fountains over the grass.

On Sunday, according to Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electric officials, automobiles completely filled available parking space along the perimeter road, and latecomers in some cases found it necessary to park along the drives leading in from Route 28A.

Circus Well Attended

Diversion-seeking residents also flocked to Hunt's Circus, playing Monday evening in the parking lot at the Dietz Memorial Stadium in Kingston, and although the experience was not cooling, the clowns, performers, and trained animals succeeded in getting the minds of the spectators—especially the younger ones—off the subject of the heat. Other residents attended the twilight baseball game at the stadium, to watch the youngsters in the Fraternal Youth League in the season's opener.

The coming of summer with the closing of schools and curtailment of various club and group activities also heralded the picnic season, with many groups planning and holding outings at city parks and elsewhere. Burnett reported that DeWitt Lake, for instance, is "booked for picnics" all this week.

Packard . . .

American Motors Corp.

All six of the small car companies together have been able to garner less than five per cent of the auto market so far this year. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have accounted for more than 95 per cent.

Industry gossip has it that once the Studebaker-Packard consolidation is approved by stockholders, efforts may be made to bring the new company and American Motors together.

The Studebaker-Packard combination will bring together companies with about $300 million in assets and about $100 million in working capital.

Condition Is 'Fair'

The condition of Wesley Van Vliet of New Paltz was listed as "fair" at the Kingston Hospital today. He was reported injured in an automobile accident near High Falls on June 11.

Large Crowd Attends Fourth Annual Dinner Of Drama Group

The largest crowd in the four-year history of the Coach House Players attended the annual banquet Thursday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Jack Marquardt, local TV entertainer, and former entertainer in night clubs in California and New York, presented tricks of magic. George Betts, president of the Coach House Players, commended the members for their co-operation this year and thanked Houston Richards, director of all Coach House plays, for his guidance. Mr. Betts also said that the success of the organization was due in a large part to the loyal support of men like Hugo Wessler, who was a guest at the banquet, and to the interest shown by many people in Kingston and the surrounding area who contribute to the wardrobe and workshop of the Coach House Players.

Mrs. Raymond R. Gross read her poem in which she reviewed the organization's accomplishments during the years. Mrs. Gross was presented with a gift from Mr. Wessler in appreciation of her work for the Coach House Players. Miss Margaret Mellert welcomed the group and acted as emcee.

Rev. Finley Will Go to Binghamton

REV. DONALD H. FINLEY

The Rev. Donald H. Finley, a native of Kingston and minister of the First Congregational Church of Cheshire, Connecticut, was called Monday evening to become the minister of the First Congregational Church of Binghamton, N. Y. The Rev. Mr. Finley said he would accept the call, resigning his present pastorate October first.

The Rev. Mr. Finley came to Cheshire from West Hartford, Conn. in October of 1951, where he had been associate minister of the First Church of Christ (Congregational) since 1946. During his Cheshire pastorate, he has placed special emphasis on the benevolence program. Considerable reorganization of the church staff and committees has been accomplished, a 76 percent increase in the current expense budget and a 20 percent increase in church membership, bringing its present membership up to 875. In 1953 an organ was installed at a cost of $18,000.

The Binghamton Church to which the Rev. Mr. Finley goes was organized in 1836. It has a membership of 1,100, an active church school and an unusually fine volunteer choir supporting a professional quartet. His pulpit responsibilities will include frequent broadcasting of the morning worship service over Station WNBF. The present value of the Binghamton edifice is more than half a million dollars, including a newly acquired parsonage in one of the best residential sections of the city.

The Rev. Mr. Finley was graduated from Kingston High School in June, 1935. He attended Dickinson College, Carlisle, Penna and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Brothers College, Drew University. During his college years he served as a student minister of the New York Conference of the Methodist Church, being at one time pastor of the Methodist churches in Connelly and Rifton. He received his divinity degree from Hartford Theological Seminary in 1948, the recipient of the David Chester Hartfrant award for highest proficiency in practical theology.

He is the son of Mrs. Fred H. Deming and the late Lester Finley. He was married in 1942 to Alma Nessle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Nessle of 91 Garden street. The Rev. and Mrs. Finley have three children, Lynn and Brian, and Marcia Elizabeth. They will move from Cheshire about October first and take up their residence in the newly acquired parsonage, 29 Vermont avenue, Binghamton.

Held for Homicide

New York, June 22 (AP)—The weeping wife of a city policeman was charged with homicide yesterday after she told of smothering her 3-week-old daughter. Mrs. Dolores Banalett, a pretty, 25-year-old blonde, sobbed violently as she told of smothering the infant Diane with her hand, police said. She could give no reason why she had done it, they added. Police said she kept a silent vigil over the body for five hours before calling neighbors. Asst. Dist. Atty. James J. Dermody filed the homicide charge against Mrs. Banalett after a medical examiner report.

Needed New Shirts

London, June 22 (AP)—Zsa Zsa Gabor and Porfirio Rubirosa whirled through London today on a shopping tour. Zsa Zsa said Rubirosa needs new shirts. The Hollywood glamor girl and her Dominican friend flew into London yesterday from Paris. Zsa Zsa and Rubirosa, estranged husband of dime store heiress Barbara Hutton, said they intend to return to Paris tomorrow and then fly on to New York Tuesday on the way to Hollywood.

Free Rides, Shows, Parties Offered Navy PCE Crew

Free bus transportation and free movies will be available for the crew of the PCE 895, naval reserve training vessel, when it docks at Kingston June 25 for a three-day visit.

Stanley London, who was named chairman of a committee in charge of arrangements for the visiting crewmen, announced today that Thomas J. Gadd, vice president of the Kingston City Transportation Corporation, offered the reservists free rides on city buses, and Joseph Sommers, city manager for Walter Reade Theatres, offered the free admissions to the movies. The crewmen's liberty cards will serve as their passes.

The reservists, some of whom are veterans of the war and others young men between 17 and 18½ taking their basic training under the reserve program, will also be feted at an "open house" at the American Legion building on West O'Reilly street on Saturday, June 26. Thomas Saccoman, Andrew J. Murphy 3rd. Thomas Bohan and L. C. Elmendorf have been named to the committee on arrangements by Myer Kaplan, commander of Kingston Post 150.

To Dock June 25

The patrol craft escort, which normally carries a complement of nine officers and 90 men, is scheduled to dock at Calso's dock on the Rondout creek at the foot of Hasbrouck avenue about noon on June 25. It will be open for public inspection from noon to 4 p. m. on each of the three days it remains here.

It is expected that a delegation headed by London will greet the crew on its arrival and that Mayor Frederick H. Stang or his representative will extend the city's official welcome to them.

London, who was named by Mayor Stang to head the arrangements, is a lieutenant, junior grade, in the Naval Reserve, and is supply officer for the U. S. Naval Training Center at Poughkeepsie.

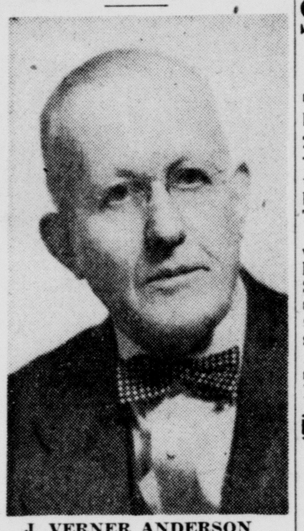
Will Test Train

New Haven, Conn., June 22 (AP)—The A.C.F.-Talgo train, a lightweight, underslung job capable of taking curves at high speed, comes onto the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad system today for an exhibition run. Patrick B. McGinnis, the railroad's new president who has been talking about cutting the New York-Boston run from four hours to two and a half, will meet the train late tomorrow afternoon when it arrives in Danbury from Maybrook, N. Y., and ride it to New Haven. A railroad spokesman emphasized that the New Haven has not purchased the Talgo train from its owner, the American Car & Foundry Co., and does not intend to, but plans trial runs with it to see what can be done with a train of its type. Similar trains have been operating in Spain for the last four years.

Reunion of 63rd

The 63rd Division Association, composed of former members of the 63rd "Blood and Fire" Infantry Division in which some men from this area served, will hold its fifth annual reunion at the Hotel New Yorker, New York, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 23, 24, and 25. The division trained in Mississippi and participated in the Central Europe and Rhineland campaigns in World War 2. Thomas A. Hoctor, 60 Soundview street, New Rochelle, is president, and Donald Waterous, 13 Lookout Place, Ardsley, reunion chairman.

Community Chest Appoints Director



J. VERNER ANDERSON

Announcement is made by George B. Matthews, president of The Kingston Area Community Chest, Inc., of the selection by the Chest of J. Verner Anderson as its executive director as of June 17. Anderson comes from Bridgeport, Conn., where he was membership secretary of the Bridgeport Chamber of Commerce in 1951. Since that time he has been connected with the Bridgeport Community Chest, The New England Council, and has completed a year of intensive campaigning for funds, one for the Red Cross, another for a hospital fund and the latest The United Crusade for funds for the Chest in Sacramento, California.

He is a veteran of World War 1, a former member of the Connecticut Legislature, and while in Bridgeport was a member of Rotary. He is married and has a daughter and two grandchildren.

He plans to make his permanent residence in Kingston on or about August 1.

Campaign Headquarters have been set up in an office in the YWCA building at 209 Clinton avenue, and preliminary plans for the campaign for funds in October will start this week.

Anderson is enthusiastic about this campaign, and said that he feels sure that this, the first campaign of Kingston's Chest, will be a great success. This assurance he says, seems to emanate from each and every member of the Board of Directors of the Chest, with whom he had his first meeting Thursday evening.

Rev. Finley Will Go to Binghamton

REV. DONALD H. FINLEY

The Rev. Donald H. Finley, a native of Kingston and minister of the First Congregational Church of Cheshire, Connecticut, was called Monday evening to become the minister of the First Congregational Church of Binghamton, N. Y. The Rev. Mr. Finley said he would accept the call, resigning his present pastorate October first.

The Rev. Mr. Finley came to Cheshire from West Hartford, Conn. in October of 1951, where he had been associate minister of the First Church of Christ (Congregational) since 1946. During his Cheshire pastorate, he has placed special emphasis on the benevolence program. Considerable reorganization of the church staff and committees has been accomplished, a 76 percent increase in the current expense budget and a 20 percent increase in church membership, bringing its present membership up to 875. In 1953 an organ was installed at a cost of $18,000.

The Binghamton Church to which the Rev. Mr. Finley goes was organized in 1836. It has a membership of 1,100, an active church school and an unusually fine volunteer choir supporting a professional quartet. His pulpit responsibilities will include frequent broadcasting of the morning worship service over Station WNBF. The present value of the Binghamton edifice is more than half a million dollars, including a newly acquired parsonage in one of the best residential sections of the city.

The Rev. Mr. Finley was graduated from Kingston High School in June, 1935. He attended Dickinson College, Carlisle, Penna and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Brothers College, Drew University. During his college years he served as a student minister of the New York Conference of the Methodist Church, being at one time pastor of the Methodist churches in Connelly and Rifton. He received his divinity degree from Hartford Theological Seminary in 1948, the recipient of the David Chester Hartfrant award for highest proficiency in practical theology.

He is the son of Mrs. Fred H. Deming and the late Lester Finley. He was married in 1942 to Alma Nessle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Nessle of 91 Garden street. The Rev. and Mrs. Finley have three children, Lynn and Brian, and Marcia Elizabeth. They will move from Cheshire about October first and take up their residence in the newly acquired parsonage, 29 Vermont avenue, Binghamton.

Held for Homicide

New York, June 22 (AP)—The weeping wife of a city policeman was charged with homicide yesterday after she told of smothering her 3-week-old daughter. Mrs. Dolores Banalett, a pretty, 25-year-old blonde, sobbed violently as she told of smothering the infant Diane with her hand, police said. She could give no reason why she had done it, they added. Police said she kept a silent vigil over the body for five hours before calling neighbors. Asst. Dist. Atty. James J. Dermody filed the homicide charge against Mrs. Banalett after a medical examiner report.

Needed New Shirts

London, June 22 (AP)—Zsa Zsa Gabor and Porfirio Rubirosa whirled through London today on a shopping tour. Zsa Zsa said Rubirosa needs new shirts. The Hollywood glamor girl and her Dominican friend flew into London yesterday from Paris. Zsa Zsa and Rubirosa, estranged husband of dime store heiress Barbara Hutton, said they intend to return to Paris tomorrow and then fly on to New York Tuesday on the way to Hollywood.

Free Rides, Shows, Parties Offered Navy PCE Crew

Free bus transportation and free movies will be available for the crew of the PCE 895, naval reserve training vessel, when it docks at Kingston June 25 for a three-day visit.

Stanley London, who was named chairman of a committee in charge of arrangements for the visiting crewmen, announced today that Thomas J. Gadd, vice president of the Kingston City Transportation Corporation, offered the reservists free rides on city buses, and Joseph Sommers, city manager for Walter Reade Theatres, offered the free admissions to the movies. The crewmen's liberty cards will serve as their passes.

The reservists, some of whom are veterans of the war and others young men between 17 and 18½ taking their basic training under the reserve program, will also be feted at an "open house" at the American Legion building on West O'Reilly street on Saturday, June 26. Thomas Saccoman, Andrew J. Murphy 3rd. Thomas Bohan and L. C. Elmendorf have been named to the committee on arrangements by Myer Kaplan, commander of Kingston Post 150.

To Dock June 25

The patrol craft escort, which normally carries a complement of nine officers and 90 men, is scheduled to dock at Calso's dock on the Rondout creek at the foot of Hasbrouck avenue about noon on June 25. It will be open for public inspection from noon to 4 p. m. on each of the three days it remains here.

It is expected that a delegation headed by London will greet the crew on its arrival and that Mayor Frederick H. Stang or his representative will extend the city's official welcome to them.

London, who was named by Mayor Stang to head the arrangements, is a lieutenant, junior grade, in the Naval Reserve, and is supply officer for the U. S. Naval Training Center at Poughkeepsie.

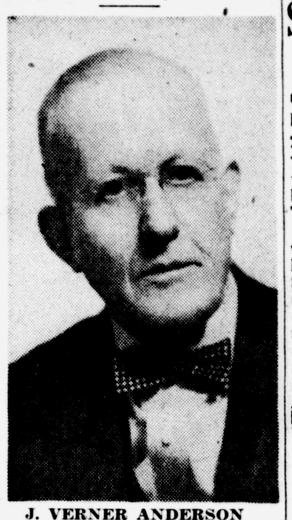
Will Test Train

New Haven, Conn., June 22 (AP)—The A.C.F.-Talgo train, a lightweight, underslung job capable of taking curves at high speed, comes onto the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad system today for an exhibition run. Patrick B. McGinnis, the railroad's new president who has been talking about cutting the New York-Boston run from four hours to two and a half, will meet the train late tomorrow afternoon when it arrives in Danbury from Maybrook, N. Y., and ride it to New Haven. A railroad spokesman emphasized that the New Haven has not purchased the Talgo train from its owner, the American Car & Foundry Co., and does not intend to, but plans trial runs with it to see what can be done with a train of its type. Similar trains have been operating in Spain for the last four years.

Reunion of 63rd

The 63rd Division Association, composed of former members of the 63rd "Blood and Fire" Infantry Division in which some men from this area served, will hold its fifth annual reunion at the Hotel New Yorker, New York, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 23, 24, and 25. The division trained in Mississippi and participated in the Central Europe and Rhineland campaigns in World War 2. Thomas A. Hoctor, 60 Soundview street, New Rochelle, is president, and Donald Waterous, 13 Lookout Place, Ardsley, reunion chairman.

Community Chest Appoints Director



J. VERNER ANDERSON

Announcement is made by George B. Matthews, president of The Kingston Area Community Chest, Inc., of the selection by the Chest of J. Verner Anderson as its executive director as of June 17. Anderson comes from Bridgeport, Conn., where he was membership secretary of the Bridgeport Chamber of Commerce in 1951. Since that time he has been connected with the Bridgeport Community Chest, The New England Council, and has completed a year of intensive campaigning for funds, one for the Red Cross, another for a hospital fund and the latest The United Crusade for funds for the Chest in Sacramento, California.

He is a veteran of World War 1, a former member of the Connecticut Legislature, and while in Bridgeport was a member of Rotary. He is married and has a daughter and two grandchildren.

He plans to make his permanent residence in Kingston on or about August 1.

Campaign Headquarters have been set up in an office in the YWCA building at 209 Clinton avenue, and preliminary plans for the campaign for funds in October will start this week.

Anderson is enthusiastic about this campaign, and said that he feels sure that this, the first campaign of Kingston's Chest, will be a great success. This assurance he says, seems to emanate from each and every member of the Board of Directors of the Chest, with whom he had his first meeting Thursday evening.

Spreader Reported Stolen
